1.1 ORGANIZATIONAL CONTEXT.

According to the 17-point plan that came out from the European leaders' special summit on the Western Balkan's Migration Route on 25 October, Greece agreed to increase its reception capacity to 30,000 places by the end of the year. The plan for 2016 foresees also establishment of the hotspots on the five Aegean islands, UNHCR is committed to support the Government's plan with one-off interventions for establishment of these facilities. In addition, UNHCR has committed to make available 20,000 accommodation places in 2016 and 2017. The capacity will be increased based on occupancy rates but the 20,000 accommodation places will progressively be made available as of 1 January 2016 through a combination of hotel vouchers, rental of apartments, rental of buildings, and host family schemes. Beneficiaries of the accommodation under the relocation scheme will be persons eligible for relocation as well as persons seeking asylum in Greece, with a priority to persons with specific needs.

In the context of the overall UNHCR activities in implementation of the accommodation/reception scheme (progressive creation of 20.000 places for relocation candidates and other asylum seekers), the incumbent of the position will be expected to supervise and co-ordinate the relocation information team per location (associate first reception experts and relocation assistants) in their day to day work and provide functional guidance on routine protection matters linked to the relocation project objectives and deliverables.

Another important function of the position is to ensure that persons of concern are involved with the Office in making decisions that affect them, whether in accessing their rights or in identifying appropriate solutions to their problems. To achieve this, the incumbent will need to build and maintain effective interfaces with communities of concern, authorities, protection and assistance partners as well as a broader network of stakeholders who can contribute to enhancing protection.

The incumbent will report to Senior Protection staff within the Unit.
