Population of concern (July 2016)

UPDATE ON ACHIEVEMENTS

Operational Context

UNHCR operates in a volatile security environment with threats of renewed armed conflict, terrorism, criminality and intercommunity violence affecting humanitarian access in parts of the north and centre. In the north, violations of basic human rights are reported and certain local populations continue to lack access to public services, documentation, water, and food security. Some 134,336 Malian refugees remain in neighbouring countries and 39,182 internally displaced persons in Mali are waiting to see whether conditions in their area of origin improve to enable them to return in safety and dignity.

Tensions remain elevated in the region of Kidal where pro-governmental forces GATIA (Groupe d'autodéfense touareg imghad et alliés) and elements of the former rebel CMA (Coordination des mouvements de l'Azawad) clashed on 9 and 10 August leading to severe losses on both sides. High-level discussion to calm the situation have ensued in Bamako since the most recent clashes on 8 and 9 August. The level of violence reportedly decreased after these incidents but tensions remained high as both parties reinforced their positions in Kidal region. Ongoing insecurity has complicated efforts to assess humanitarian needs of displaced populations affected by the renewed armed clashes.

The threat of terrorism remains a serious concern in the north and centre of Mali. National and international security forces remain the target of most attacks, however international civilian personnel are at higher risk of hostage takings or kidnappings. The improvised explosive device (IED) threat remains high in most areas of the North. Between 5 and 7 August, an IED explosion in the northern region of Kidal killed one MINUSMA peacekeeper and injured six others. More recently, on 29 August an IED explosion near Anéfis killed two MINUSMA contractors and injured one other. The expansion of the terrorist threat to the central regions of Mopti and Segou remain a point of concern following the deadly attacks launched by Katiba of Macina (Front de libération du Macina) against Malian armed forces in mid-July. The Malian government has carried out operations in response to the attacks, but challenges remain in terms of the limited capacity and presence of armed forces.

In the capital of Bamako, social tensions have grown amid the discontent provoked by the dismantling of illegal shops and the protest of the arrest of a radio journalist on 15 August. On 17 August, demonstrations turned violent with one civilian dead and 18 injured, including four police officers, as well as damage to public and private goods.

The volatile security environment continues to destabilize local communities, jeopardize the protection of civilians, and prevent forcibly displaced persons from returning to their homes, while further threatening their access to already limited basic social services. The insecurity also compromises their ability to re-engage in socio-economic activities critical to rebuilding their lives. Access to persons of concern for the delivery of humanitarian protection and assistance in the north and centre of Mali has become a significant challenge for UNHCR and other actors. Frequent criminal attacks continue to be reported on several major routes in the North, particularly on the routes of Gao-Ansongo-Ménaka and Timbuktu-Goundam. In Timbuktu, Gao and Menaka where UNHCR has offices, the working and living conditions are affected by sporadic alerts and an aggravated feeling of insecurity. In addition to this, the rainy season has rendered certain highways difficult for road travel, impeding access to certain zones of intervention.

The need to uphold humanitarian principles is of utmost importance to counter the shrinking of humanitarian space necessary to conduct life-saving activities. Incorporating protection mainstreaming principles and promoting a meaningful access, safety and dignity for humanitarian aid remains key to humanitarian actors.

Achievements

Protection

Protection Cluster

- During the monthly Protection Cluster meetings in Bamako, Gao, Mopti and Timbuktu, the analysis focused on the protection situation in regions of the north and centre. A rise in human rights violations has been observed, aggravated by ongoing intercommunity tensions and the prolonged absence of state authorities.
 - In Gao region, the Protection Cluster conducted a detailed analysis of civilian protection in the region of Kidal. Recommendations include an urgent need to accelerate the implementation of the peace accord and the reconciliation process, notably through the implementation of interim authorities, the cantonment and DDR processes, the organization of mixed patrols, the redeployment of administrative and security officials, and the organization of intercommunity meetings on reconciliation.
 - On 5 August, the Protection Cluster in Timbuktu met the regional government authority overseeing the promotion of women and children to discuss ways to reinvigorate and reinforce the SGBV/Child Protection sub-cluster.
