

Camp Coordination & Camp Management
(CCCM) Officer Profile
Various Locations

Grade: For Mid (P3) and Senior (P4) Level Positions
Deadline for Applications: Open Call for Applications

The Camp Coordination and Camp Management Officer ensures a multi-sectoral response to assist and protect displaced populations in communal settings (collective centres, camps, transit/reception centres, spontaneous and informal sites, etc.), where such are created or envisaged. However, as camps and communal settlements are temporary solutions established only as a last resort whilst all efforts are made to find more durable solutions, the CCCM Officer does not advocate for the creation of camps, but improves the management of any relevant communal setting. Additionally, displaced populations often settle outside of communal settings with host families or in rented premises in rural or urban areas and some aspects of the management and coordination of their access to protection and assistance might fall under the purview of the CCCM Officer.

While the population of concern to UNHCR is more varied, internally displaced persons (IDPs) and refugees form the largest groups of displaced populations that usually reside in communal settings. UNHCR is accountable for ensuring the international protection of refugees and for seeking durable solutions under the Refugee Coordination Model, which at the operational level includes management of camps and camp-like structures, while it shares the leadership for the Global CCCM Cluster with IOM, translating into leading country-based CCCM Clusters in conflict settings (IOM leading the cluster in situations of natural disaster). For refugee situations, camp management sectorial expertise is usually embedded within the job description of a Field Officer, who maintains oversight of the camp management implemented through partners. Nevertheless, in specific contexts, technical support in camp and site management and coordination might require a dedicated and specialised staff. On the IDP side, a CCCM Cluster Coordinator is accountable for the CCCM response to the humanitarian crisis, maintaining overall coordination, accountability and predictability of the response within communal displacement situations. The CCCM cluster coordinator must ensure the inclusion of key humanitarian partners within the sector, respecting their mandates and programme priorities. Working together and with other clusters and stakeholders, the CCCM cluster members will identify the overall requirements in responding to camp and communal displacement situations and augment their capacity to meet this threshold. The cluster will identify (and establish when necessary) standards and guidelines that facilitate interoperability to ensure that activities are carried out quickly and effectively.
