 - a. Represent the SMS SWG at area level and ensure appropriate links with local authorities and institutions, local civil society groups, and other relevant actors (e.g. Greek Army), as well as appropriate information exchange with them at area level.
 - b. Liaison with other sub-national SWGs' focal persons and ensure appropriate inter-sector information exchange and coordination at area level, including through the participation in sub-national ISWG meetings.
- Emergency preparedness
 - a. In consultation with the national SMS SWG, encourage the sub-national ISWG to conduct a risk assessment exercise and define the scenario agencies might end up grappling with.
 - b. Based on the risk assessment and ensuing scenario, encourage the sub-national ISWG to come up with adequate emergency preparedness measures, including contingency planning should the situation require it.
- Out-of-camp solutions
 - a. Participate in inter-sector efforts to identify potential housing solutions for asylum-seekers outside sites.
 - b. Contribute to inter-sector advocacy efforts aimed at promoting out-of-camp solutions vis-à-vis the authorities and other stakeholders.

C. Geographical coverage:

SMS SWG Focal Points will be respectively responsible for the following geographical areas:

On the mainland:

- Epirus and Western Greece
- Thessaly and Central Greece
- Thrace and Eastern Macedonia

On the islands:

- Lesvos
- Chios
- Samos
- Kos/Leros/Kalymnos

D. Focal Point selection:

The Focal Point selection process is initiated by a call for expression of interest by SMS SWG members issued by the National SMS SWG Coordination. Should there be multiple applicants for the same geographical area, applications a peer review based on the applicants' presence in the area, capacity and level of participation in the SWG's activity will be conducted by the National SMS SWG members.

E. Focal Point term:

The Focal Point term is six months. Every six months the national SMS SWG will reassess the needs for Focal Points and the appropriateness of the geographical division. Should the need for focal points still be present, the selection process will be re-launched and a new call for expression of interest issued.
