1. Resettlement Policy

Iceland has received groups of refugees for resettlement since 1956. Between 1956 and 2012 a total of 525 refugees resettled in the country as quota refugees. The Icelandic Refugee Committee (until 2005 the Council) was established in 1996 and since then Icelandic Government has overseen the reception of refugees annually or every other year, approximately 22 refugees each year, as a part of the UNHCR Resettlement Programme. (Iceland has received groups of refugees for resettlement since 1956.) In 2007 the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Social Affairs announced the establishment of an annual quota of 25 to 30 refugees. The quota for 2008 was 29 individuals. Due to the financial crisis in Iceland in 2008 the quota for resettled refugees was reduced and in the year 2010 two families (six persons) were accepted as resettled refugees. In the year 2012 Iceland accepted three families (nine persons) as quota refugees.

The Icelandic Refugee Committee is the consultative body on quota refugees. The Ministry of Welfare (former Ministry of Social Affairs), through the Icelandic Refugee Committee, is responsible for the selection, admission and integration of refugees in Iceland while working in close co-operation with other ministries concerned. The Icelandic Refugee Committee is comprised of members from the Ministry of the Interior, the Ministry of Welfare, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Red Cross of Iceland.

2. Criteria for Recognition of Refugee Status Eligibility and Asylum

Refugees eligible for resettlement in Iceland are recognised as refugees according to the 1951 Geneva Convention and the 1967 Protocol relating to the Statute of Refugees and regional instruments, who for security reasons cannot remain in their first country of asylum or return to their country of origin. Article 44 of the Icelandic Act on Foreigners also defines a refugee as a person who is not a refugee under the definition of the convention if there is reason to believe that this person will suffer the death penalty, undergo torture or other inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment should that person be sent back to their home country. The same applies to a stateless person.

There is no distinction made between the Refugee Status criteria for asylum seekers and resettled refugees.

3. Criteria for Resettlement

Refugees eligible for resettlement in Iceland are refugees recognised under UNHCR's mandate who fall into one of the following categories:

Legal or physical protection needs, when the refugee meets one of these conditions:

- immediate or long-term threat of forced repatriation or expulsion;
- threat of arbitrary arrest, detention or imprisonment;
- threat to human rights or physical integrity/safety, analogous to those considerations under the refugee definition and rendering asylum untenable;
- refugees who are victims of violence and/or torture;
- refugees who are victims of violence and/or torture who require special medical attention. Their resettlement in Iceland is subject to the availability of appropriate medical services.
- Refugees who are need of protection because of their sexual orientation (LGBT)

Women at Risk:

- Women facing serious physical and/or psychological threats (rape, sexual harassment, violence, exploitation, torture, etc.)
- Lacking the traditional protection of their families or communities.

Refugees without any prospects of local integration in the first country of asylum:

Under specific circumstances, refugees who do not have an opportunity to establish themselves in their country of refuge in a manner appropriate to their cultural, social, religious or educational background. When refugees remain for a certain period in a country of asylum without being able to integrate and do not have the prospect of repatriation in the near future, they can be considered for resettlement.

4. Resettlement Allocations/Processing Priorities

The Government of Iceland decides the allocation of the quota in close consultation with the Ministry of Welfare (former Ministry of Social Affairs and Social Security). The Icelandic Refugee Committee, uniting representatives from the Ministry of Welfare, the Ministry of the Interior, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs as well as the Icelandic Red Cross, makes a proposal on the basis of the UNHCR assessment of overall resettlement needs. The Icelandic Refugee Council meets on average once per month, and decides upon the allocation of sub-quotas by region and category in co-operation with local authorities.

5. Submission and Processing via Dossier Selection

The processing of refugees in Iceland is mainly carried out through In-Country Selection; however since 2010 the selection process has been via dossier selection. The selection of candidates is made through refugee status determination on the basis of the Resettlement Registration Forms submitted by the UNHCR to the Icelandic Refugee Committee. The Icelandic Refugee Committee notifies UNHCR of its decisions as soon as the Icelandic Government approved the Committee's suggestions.

6. Submissions and Processing via In Country Selection

6.1 Selection mission policies

The destination of the annual interview mission is decided by the Government of Iceland according to recommendations from the Refugee Committee in close consultation with UNHCR.

6.2 Preparations

Since 2010 UNHCR has sent the Icelandic Refugee Committee Resettlement Registration Forms regarding individuals and families recommended by the respective UNHCR field office. The numbers of cases that are sent are higher than the ones that will finally be offered asylum in Iceland. The committee studies all the cases thoroughly and interviews the ones that are likely to be offered asylum in Iceland. The interviews are most often taken via computer with the assistance of UNHCR and sometimes local Icelandic embassy.

Before 2010 a selection team from Iceland went to the country of asylum to work on the selection delegation and met with all the families that UNHCR provided them with. After those interviews a decision was made regarding the ones who were offered an asylum.

6.3 Case Documentation

The identities of refugees are investigated by the Directorate of Immigration and problems with documents are identified. Upon arrival in the country of asylum the refugees get a cultural orientation, about Icelandic society and culture, climate and geography, which the committee prepares. After Iceland authorities stopped sending a selection committee to the asylum country these cultural orientations are provided through the local UNHCR or local Icelandic embassies in the country of asylum. The cultural orientation also covers information regarding challenges the refugees will inevitably meet. This introduction is offered to the whole group of refugees selected by the local UNHCR.

6.4 Decision Making Process

Before a decision is reached all the cases are interviewed by the refugee committee via video conference. It is stressed that all family members participate in the interview, even the youngest ones. The main objective of the interview is to assess the individual's or the family's present situation and how they feel about moving to Iceland. The committee usually does neither ask about the past or the information already documented by UNHCR; the focus is on the present and future. A decision is finally taken based upon the overall evaluation of the need for asylum as well as on prospects of successful integration.

The Refugee committee informs the Minister of Social affairs and Housing of its recommendation. The Ministry of Welfare notifies UNHCR headquarters and the UNHCR field office of its decision by sending a list with the names of every individual that is offered the right to settle in Iceland as soon as possible after return of the delegation to Iceland. Travel arrangements are prepared by the IOM according to a contract.

6.5 Processing Time

Every effort is made to process the entry visas as fast as possible so that the period between the decision of the Icelandic authorities and the arrival of the refugees in Iceland is as short as possible.

7. Emergency Cases/Urgent Cases

No accelerated procedures for the processing of emergency cases are yet in place.

8. Special Categories/Special Needs

Since the year 2005 Iceland has focused on Women at Risk in its resettlement programme.

9. Medical Requirements

No specific medical check ups are required before departure under the Icelandic programme. Upon arrival in Iceland the quota refugees receive a health examination and necessary medical care. The quota refugees are offered psychological assistance.

10. Orientation (pre-departure)

Refugees who receive resettlement in Iceland are offered a presentation about living in Iceland, as well as information concerning their rights and duties in Iceland. They also receive information packages containing general information

11. Travel

Travel is arranged by IOM in close co-operation with UNHCR. Cost of travel is paid by the Icelandic Government.

12. Status on Arrival and the Path to Citizenship

Refugees accepted for resettlement in Iceland are granted refugee status according to the 1951 Convention and Icelandic Act on Foreigners nr. 96/2002. The refugees will be subsequently granted residence and work permits. As soon as the quota refugees have arrived in Iceland they receive refugee status. The process takes less than four weeks. The Directorate of Immigration, municipality and the Red Cross in Iceland assist the refugees filling in the necessary forms. Refugees receive travel documents from the Icelandic state. The refugee will receive a permit to stay in Iceland for four years and can then apply for a permanent residence permit.

To receive a permanent residence permit the applicant must have attended a course in Icelandic for foreigners, which in the case of refugees is paid for by the Government of Iceland. A refugee who meets the conditions of the definition of the Convention relating to the Status of Refugees of 1951 must have been domiciled in Iceland as a refugee for five years to be able to apply for citizenship. The cost of citizenship application for adults is 15.000 ISK.

The Directorate of Immigration may grant Icelandic citizenship to a child born in Iceland that has demonstrably not acquired other citizenship at birth and has not yet acquired Icelandic citizenship or the right to acquire it when the application is made. The child shall have been domiciled and been a resident in Iceland for at least three years from birth.

13. Domestic Settlement and Community Services

13.1 Actors

The reception and integration of refugees is co-ordinated by the Ministry of Welfare in co-operation with the Icelandic Red Cross and the municipality where the refugees will be resettled. A Steering Group with a member from the ministry, the local Red Cross, and the municipality is established in each resettlement programme and is responsible at local level. There is also a consulting committee where the ministry, the Red Cross and the local authorities each have one representative. The resettlement programme is for one year where a comprehensive support from the local authorities is provided including social service, special support for the children in the elementary- and kindergarten and children with special needs are offered necessary service. There is a planned cooperation between the social services, the school system and the local health care centers.

Support families are an essential feature of the Icelandic integration programme for resettled refugees. The support families scheme is based on the initiative of individual citizens who volunteer with the Icelandic Red Cross to assist a refugee to integrate into their respective local communities. Support families undergo specific training before being formally assigned to a refugee, including a psychological aid course and a full briefing on the refugee's cultural background.

13.2 Reception

Newly resettled refugees are met at the airport by representatives of the Ministry of Welfare, as well as the local authorities and Icelandic Red Cross which join them in the last part of their journey from the airport to their new homes.

13.3 Housing

Upon arrival, refugees are provided with a fully furnished apartment, with all necessary appliances and clothing. The Red Cross is responsible for furnishing the apartments. Basic food for the first few days is also provided.

13.4 Health

Upon arrival in Iceland, all refugees will have a medical check-up. Medical and dental care is provided, free of charge, during the first six months of residence in Iceland. After six months, refugees have the same access to the health system as Icelandic citizens. Psychological assistance is provided for a longer time free of charge.

13.5 Language Training, Employment-Related Training

Language training is provided during the first year of residence. The municipality provides cultural orientation as well as employment training or support applying for further education.

Refugees are expected to attend Icelandic language classes. In case of smaller groups the refugees will go to open classes, but for larger groups there have been private classes for the groups.

13.6 Education and Employment

Iceland has a ten-year compulsory education for children from the age of 6 to 16 years. Younger children, from approximately 18 – 24 months of age, attend kindergarten.

The Social Service office in each of the municipalities receiving resettled refugees provides them with a case worker and mentors and monitors the integration.

13.7 Financial Assistance

The refugees will receive allowances to cover their living expenses according to a standard fixed by the Social Services of the local authority. The refugees will also receive other benefits such as child allowance, special rent benefits and financial assistance for leisure activities for the children and school meals.

14. Family Reunification of Refugees

The Government of Iceland acknowledges that family unity is an important factor that facilitates the integration of refugees in their country of resettlement. Cases of family reunification are dealt with under the provisions of the Act on Foreigners, on a case-by-case basis. Reunification of families is not counted within the resettlement quota and there is no special programme for submission of cases for family reunification.

According to the Act on Foreigners, refugees have a right to reunite with their close family members as defined in the Act on Foreigners, (i.e. the spouse, cohabiting partner or registered partner, and the children of the person concerned who are under the age of 18), if the family ties already existed when the refugee status was provided.

Family members of a person who has been granted refugee status in Iceland can apply for a family reunification directly to The Directorate of Immigration in Iceland. In cases when children apply for family reunification in Iceland, as their parents have received refugee status and for some reason the children have not been included in the application, it is necessary to provide documents which support that the parent has full custody of the child or shared custody and the other parent permits that the child migrates in Iceland. In the cases when there is a family reunification of resettled refugee in Iceland the government pays 75% of the travel cost.

No distinction is made between resettled refugees and persons who have been granted asylum.
