More cash than in-kind assistance

Along with in-kind support and services, UNHCR uses cash to protect and assist people in all phases of displacement to meet their basic and other needs.

Cash is the means and not the objective. Saving lives and protecting people comes first. The choice of modality to assist and protect people and build their resilience is context-specific.

POLICY ON CASH ASSISTANCE

Inclusive of partners, UNHCR's vision for cash assistance for its increased innovative and systematic use is outlined in the 5-year Policy on Cash-Based Interventions and the UNHCR Strategy for the Institutionalisation of Cash-Based Interventions.

UNHCR cash assistance is based on solid institutional policies & procedures, innovative tools and increasing capacities.

By end 2020

Institution-building to deliver cash at large scale

Roll-out of Cash Management Systems - CashAssist deployed to 20 additional countries in 2019

4,500 UNHCR and partner staff trained on cash by the end of 2018

50 country experts on cash in place by the end of 2018

CASH AND PROTECTION

Cash, together with in-kind assistance and services, helped prevent displaced people from resorting to negative survival strategies, such as child labour. In 2018, UNHCR provided more than 30 % of its overall cash to meet specific protection outcomes.

INNOVATION AND PARTNERSHIP: UNHCR is implementing innovative and inclusive assistance with collective efficiencies.

The Common Cash Facility (CCF) provides humanitarian actors with direct and equal access to a common financial service provider. In Jordan, the CCF provides cash assistance to vulnerable refugees outside of camp in Jordan. UNHCR and the Cash Learning Partnership (CaLP) conducted a review of the Common Cash Facility \(CCF\). It concluded the CCF to be a secure, efficient and innovative cash transfer approach that has enabled predictable cash payments to be made at scale to refugees while streamlining multiple organizations' cash transfer programmes. UNHCR is now systematically expanding the CCF to all operations.
