

GLOBAL RESETTLEMENT

Expanded resettlement and complementary pathways for refugees are tangible mechanisms for burden and responsibility-sharing, which are central to the global compact on refugees.

States have made commitments in the New York Declaration to aim to provide resettlement places and complementary pathways for admission on a scale commensurate with the annual needs identified by UNHCR.

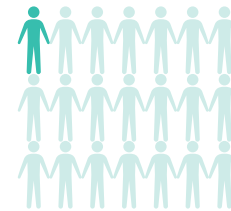

UNHCR submissions
Resettlement needs

2017 | Available resettlement places dropped after four years of growth.

2017 | UNHCR submitted 75,200 refugees in 2017, a 54% drop compared to 163,200 submissions in 2016.

1.4M
Resettlement needs in 2019 are double the needs in 2014.

1:21
DEPARTURES

For every 21 refugees in need of resettlement only one departed to a resettlement state in 2017.

18

2036

Based on 2017 quotas it will take more than 18 years for today's resettlement needs to be met.

MORE DIVERSITY NEEDED

Resettlement programmes are most effective when protection focused and responsive to the diverse global resettlement needs.

40%

2017 | Only 40% of resettlement states received submissions from more than 3 different resettlement operations.
