

Syria

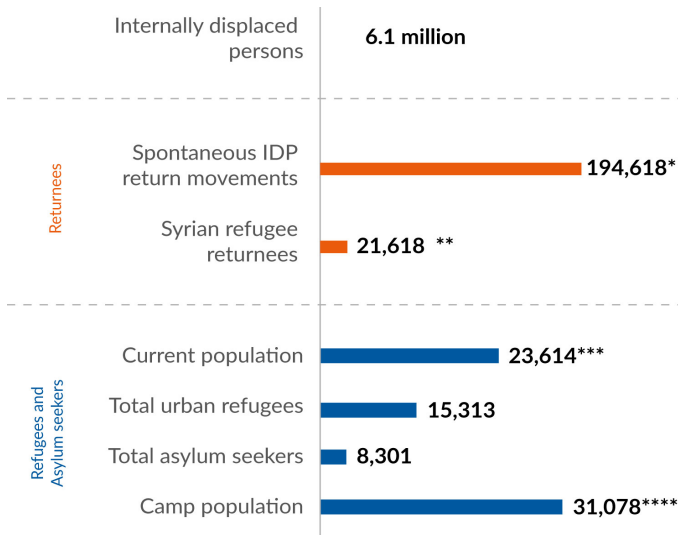

August 2020

With the Syria crisis in its ninth year, humanitarian needs remain staggering in terms of scale, severity and complexity, with significant protection risks continuing in several areas across the country.

According to the 2020 Syria Humanitarian Needs Overview (HNO), some 11.06 million people are still in need of humanitarian assistance, of whom 4.7 million people are in acute need.

Rapid, safe and unhindered humanitarian access remains challenging. The UN continues to advocate for sustained access for humanitarian actors to provide assistance and protection to all people in need across affected communities.

Working with Partners and Public Institutions

By the end of August, UNHCR had twenty-eight agencies including six international non-governmental organizations (INGOs), twenty national NGOs and two government ministries; the Ministry of Local Administration and Environment and Ministry of Higher Education. The Syrian Arab Red Crescent (SARC) is one of the key humanitarian agencies in Syria that is engaged in various aspects of humanitarian response on behalf of UNHCR.

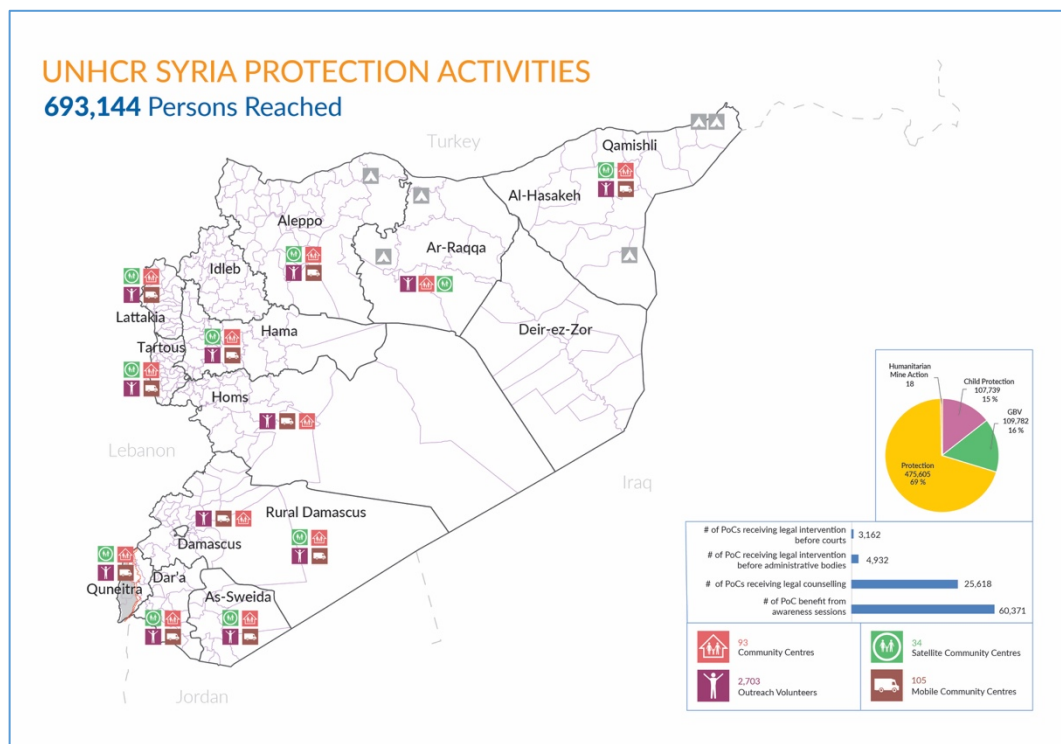

Under the overall leadership of the UN Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA), UNHCR is the lead agency for the Protection, Shelter and Non-Food Item (NFI) sectors within the framework of the interagency approach makes it a key player in the coordination structures and response. The Shelter Sector is co-led by UNHCR and the Ministry of Local Administration and Environment, while the NFI Sector is led by UNHCR in close coordination with SARC. UNHCR also maintains strategic partnerships with all the UN agencies providing humanitarian response in Syria.

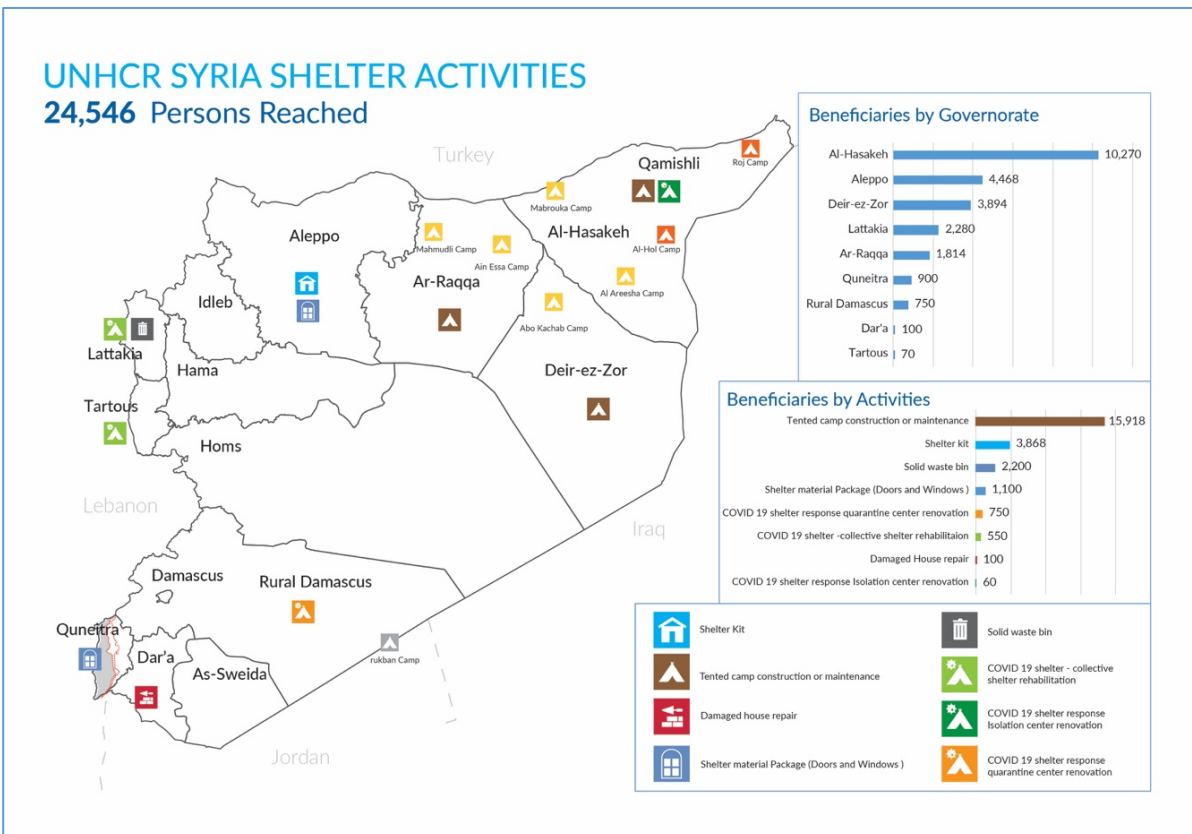

Strategic Directions

Within the context of the Syria Humanitarian Response Plan (HRP), UNHCR's strategic directions and operational priorities are:

- Prepare for and respond to potential influx of Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs) and refugees, as well as returns of IDPs and refugees.
- Contribute to fostering an environment for voluntary, dignified, safe and sustainable return of refugees and IDPs with focus on support for those who have returned spontaneously and their communities.
- Enhance protective environment for refugees and promote innovative solutions shifting from individualized approaches to more community-based interventions.
- Strengthen delivery-focused partnerships to enable UNHCR achieve its interventions through inter-agency and sector coordination mechanisms. This includes the Special Situations Group, UN Country Team, Humanitarian Country Team, Return and Reintegration Working Group and Area Humanitarian Country Team.

Main Activities

Assistance and support to refugees and asylum seekers

In August, 9,715 refugees from 3,506 refugee families benefited from the multi-purpose cash grants (MPCGs) bringing the total number of those assisted since January this year to 13,566 individuals.

Refugee Status Determination (RSD) submissions were made for 2 individuals in 2 families in August (27 individuals/17 families since the beginning of the year). In addition, the cases of 12 individuals in 8 families were reviewed during the reporting period (38 individuals/ 25 families since January). 1 individual in 1 family was recognized as refugee bringing to 17 individuals in 10 families, the total number recognized as refugees since the start of the year.

UNHCR also conducted over-the-phone counselling to 764 persons on resettlement. It is also working on standard operating procedures for refugee movements to the Lebanese border following the relocation of the International Organization for Migration (IOM) from Syria.

Two UNHCR-supported community centres in Al-Hasakeh Governorate provided a wide range of protection services to refugees. Moreover, by 31 August, the number of refugee outreach volunteers supporting communities in Damascus, Rural Damascus, Aleppo and Al-Hasakeh reached 124.

In August, 04 Gender-Based Violence (GBV) survivors were identified and supported with needed services (65 since the beginning of the year). Additionally, 7 awareness sessions in August (62 since the start of the year) were organized on gender-based violence including in camps in North East Syria benefiting 103 individuals in August (1,158 since the beginning of the year).

Furthermore, 12,593 refugees and asylum seekers received free-of-charge comprehensive primary health care services through 10 UNHCR-supported primary health care clinics as of end of August. Secondary and tertiary health care was also provided to 1,774 of the beneficiary population through designated public, charitable and private contracted hospitals in Syria.

Assistance and support to spontaneous returnees

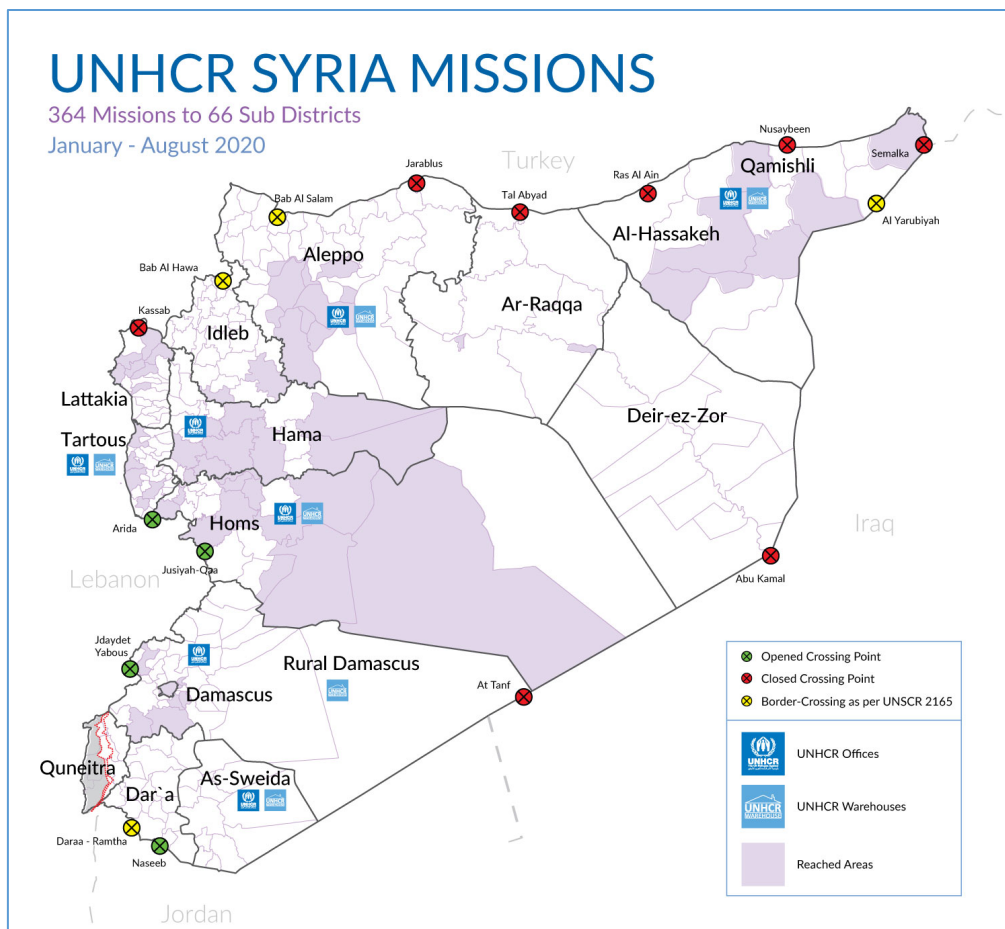

UNHCR and partners provided support to increase the quarantine capacity of Al Dweir, Rural Damascus from 1,800 to 2,450 individuals.

During the period ending August, UNHCR and its partners gathered information at the community level to update over 100 sub-district profiles in areas of returns. This was intended to provide a snapshot of gaps in infrastructure and services and highlight the key needs of the affected population.

By the end of August, the number of remedial classes and catch-up activities provided by UNHCR reached 6,948 returnee students at the primary and secondary levels. The support is part of UNHCR's non-formal education programmes provided through community centres.

The number of GBV survivors identified and referred for specialized services by UNHCR and partners reached 1,507 by the end of August. During the same period, 40,160 women participated in 2,008 awareness sessions to enhance their role in the decision-making process and in designing activities to address their needs.

Additionally, UNHCR supported 367,148 returnees/ 82,585 families by 31 August with core relief items and seasonal items including rechargeable fans, extra blankets and plastic sheets, sleeping bags, winter jackets and winter clothing.
