The 2018 Iraq Humanitarian Response Plan (HRP) has been developed to target populations in critical need throughout Iraq but does not cover the refugee response in Iraq. This is led by the UN refugee agency, UNHCR, and covered in the 2018-2019 Regional Refugee and Resilience Plan (3RP). In an effort to present a comprehensive overview of the humanitarian situation in Iraq, refugee needs and representative response actions are referenced in relevant sections in the HRP.

PROFILE OF THE CRISIS

OVERVIEW AND IMPACT

The majority of displaced families are expected to return to their communities by the end of the year

The humanitarian crisis in Iraq is entering a new phase. Combat operations against the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) have ended and hundreds of thousands of displaced people are returning to their homes and communities.

Retaken areas are being cleared of explosive hazards and rubble and major efforts are underway to restore electricity, water and sewage grids, re-establish the Government's social protection floor, jump-start local economies and open schools and health centres. Displaced camps are being consolidated and de-commissioned and modalities are being put in place for ensuring that the highly vulnerable families who are currently receiving assistance from humanitarian partners are covered under the Government's new Poverty Reduction Strategy.

The human toll of four years of intensive, virtually non-stop combat has been enormous. In 2014, 2.5 million civilians were displaced inside Iraq; in 2015, more than one million people fled their homes; in 2016, an additional 700,000 people fled and in 2017, 1.7 million civilians were newly displaced. Population movements have been multi-directional; at the same time that hundreds of thousands of people have been fleeing their homes, hundreds of thousands have been returning.

The pace and scale of displacement have made the Iraq crisis one of the largest and most volatile in the world. Civilians have been at extreme risk throughout, from aerial bombardment, artillery barrage, cross-fire, snipers, and unexploded ordnance. Tens of thousands of civilians have been used as human shields and hundreds of thousands have survived siege-like conditions.

The military operation to retake Mosul, starting in October 2016 and ending nine months later in July 2017, was the longest urban battle since World War II. In accordance with the army's humanitarian concept of operations, one million civilians were safely evacuated from the city in the largest managed evacuation from a combat zone in modern history.

Humanitarians were on the frontlines and in emergency camps throughout, liaising with Iraqi security forces to ensure civilians were evacuated safely and providing life-saving assistance to the 1.7 million people who either fled or stayed in their homes. Priority was given to reaching civilians as soon as they crossed to safety; a reported 20,000 severely wounded people were referred to hospitals during the offensive, including 12,700 people who were stabilized at frontline trauma posts managed by health partners.

It will take years to rebuild Iraq. Damage and loss assessments conducted by the Ministry of Planning and analysed by the World Bank estimate that reconstruction will take at least 10 years and cost well over US$88 billion.

The health and education sectors have been particularly hard-hit. The number of consultations performed in health clinics has increased eightfold since 2014. Thirty-six per cent of health centres in Salah al-Din are damaged or destroyed and only half of health facilities in Ninewa are fully functional. Schools in conflict-affected areas are operating double and triple shifts. Last year alone, more than 150 schools were damaged or destroyed. Nearly 50 per cent of children in displaced camps do not have access to quality education and 3.2 million children attend school irregularly or not at all.

Agricultural production has declined 40 per cent compared to pre-conflict levels when crop production, including wheat, barley, maize, fruits and vegetables in Ninewa and Salah al-Din provided nearly 70 per cent of household income. The poverty rate in the areas most impacted by the fighting exceeds 40 per cent. Poor households and close to one-third of displaced families are currently relying on negative coping strategies. Nearly 1.9 million Iraqis are food insecure; 7.3 million people require health care; 5.2 million protection support; 5.4 million water and sanitation assistance and 4.1 million people need shelter.

Although the conflict has ended, multiple, unpredictable volatile dynamics are expected to continue throughout 2018. Asymmetric attacks cannot be ruled out, particularly in areas where ISIL retains local support, resulting in new displacement and impacting returns. New sources of instability may possibly emerge, linked to delays in reconciliation and political tensions, including in disputed areas.

As many as two million displaced Iraqis are likely to return to their homes during 2018. Although major efforts are being made by the Government of Iraq and Kurdistan Regional Government to incentivize and facilitate returns, many vulnerable families are unable to return without assistance. Displaced people from areas which are not yet stable are likely to delay going home until conditions improve and will continue to need support. Families living in camps and substandard accommodation are highly vulnerable and host communities throughout the country, most particularly in the Kurdistan Region, are facing widespread unemployment and deteriorating public services.

During 2018, and beyond, millions of people are likely to need protection support as families and communities grapple with post-conflict realities. Retaliation against people associated with ISIL and sectarian-related violence are problems in sensitive areas. Families without civil documentation are struggling to access the Government’s social protection floor and claim compensation. Hundreds of thousands of people who have been brutalized by violence, including women and children, require specialized support and services, many of which are only partially available.

The Government of Iraq and Kurdistan Regional Government, supported by national organizations and religious endowments, are committed to providing the bulk of humanitarian assistance in 2018, but will continue to rely on humanitarian partners to support displaced and highly vulnerable families. The continued importance of the Iraq humanitarian operation cannot be underestimated. Reconciliation, security and the country's future peace depend on ensuring that the people who have suffered and lost everything during the conflict receive the help they need.

DEC 2017

In late December 2017, for the first time since the Iraq displacement crisis began in December 2013, IOM recorded more returnees (3.2 million individuals) than people displaced (2.6 million individuals) in Iraq.

BREAKDOWN OF

PEOPLE IN NEED

The number of people in need of emergency humanitarian assistance continues to decline

During 2018, humanitarian partners estimate that 8.7 million people across Iraq will require some form of humanitarian assistance. This number represents the aggregate, rather than absolute number of people who will need some form of assistance. Using a standardized methodology, partners have assessed needs across five major categories of vulnerability. Based on inter-cluster assessments partners estimate that:

- 1.5 million internally displaced people living in camps and informal settlements will require humanitarian assistance in 2018. This is an upper estimation based on the assumption that many families may decide to return to their communities later in the year due to insecurity, damage and unexploded ordnance in their home communities;
- 300,000 people may be forced to move, or be secondarily displaced, as a result of asymmetric attacks and tensions in disputed and unstable areas during 2018;

- 2 million returnees may require some form of limited humanitarian assistance during 2018, including 500,000 highly vulnerable people who have already returned and the 1.5 million people who will return during the course of the year;
- 3.8 million people in communities hosting large numbers of displaced families may require humanitarian assistance in 2018. This is an upper estimation that includes people in host communities who are adequately covered by the Government social protection systems.
- 600,000 people who remained in their homes during the final offensives of the conflict, including, 500,000 people from Mosul and Telafar, 60,000 people in Hawiga and 40,000 people in western areas of Anbar.

Of the 8.7 million people who require humanitarian assistance, 4.3 million are female and 4.1 million, nearly half of the total people in need, are children. In addition to displaced and host families, 250,000 Syrian refugees are expected to remain in Iraq and require continuing assistance.

SEVERITY OF

PEOPLE IN NEED

Ninewa, Kirkuk and Anbar remain the most severely affected governorates

Nearly 80 per cent of the estimated 8.7 million people requiring assistance are concentrated in Ninewa, Kirkuk and Anbar governorates. Ninewa remains the epicentre of the crisis. Forty-six per cent of the Iraqis who need assistance, four million people, live in Ninewa. In Kirkuk, 1.6 million people require assistance, including people in newly accessible areas of Hawiga district. In Anbar, 1.3 million people require humanitarian assistance.

30 per cent of all displaced people in Iraq and 226,000 refugees from Syria. Dahuk and Erbil host the second and third largest displaced population respectively, many of whom have been displaced since August 2014. More than 140,000 vulnerable residents in host communities in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq are also estimated to require humanitarian assistance.

Needs are also concentrated in Dahuk, Erbil and Sulaymaniyah governorates in Iraq's Kurdistan Region, which together host

- The severity of needs map has been prepared using the following set of proxy indicators:
- Proportion of displaced people per governorate compared to population of Iraq
 - Proportion of displaced people to host governorate population
 - Proportion of returnees to host governorate population

STRATEGIC

OBJECTIVES

Protection remains the overriding humanitarian priority during 2018

During 2018, humanitarian partners are committed to doing everything possible to ensure that highly vulnerable Iraqis in the hardest-hit areas receive the protection and support they require, and are entitled to under international humanitarian law. On the basis of assessed needs, and working in close cooperation with national authorities and institutions, the partners represented in the Humanitarian Response Plan are committed to:

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVE ONE

Supporting highly vulnerable displaced families living in camps and substandard accommodation by providing services and assistance packages

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVE TWO

Supporting highly vulnerable displaced families who are willing to return to their homes, but are unable to do so without assistance by providing packages at their place of displacement and when they return home

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVE THREE

Reaching as many newly displaced and currently accessible families as possible by securing safe access and providing sequenced emergency packages

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVE FOUR

Supporting highly vulnerable people inadequately covered under the social protection floor by providing assistance packages and facilitating access to services

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVE FIVE

Supporting people brutalized by violence to cope and recover by providing specialized assistance and protection

RESPONSE

STRATEGY

The humanitarian operation will contract significantly during 2018; this will be a managed process

During 2018, the humanitarian operation will contract significantly. Rather than allowing this contraction to evolve haphazardly or to increase vulnerabilities, the process will be managed in conjunction with the Government’s High Level Advisory Team and Crisis Management Cell, supported by the Joint Coordination and Monitoring Centre (JCMC) in Baghdad and the Joint Crisis Coordination Centre (JCC) in Erbil.

During the year, as camps are consolidated and de-commissioned and authorities accelerate reconstruction, humanitarians will work closely with counterparts to ensure that families are able to choose whether to remain where they are, return to their homes or resettle. High priority will be given to helping vulnerable families access the Government’s social protection floor and every effort will be made to ensure services continue to be provided in camps and areas with a high concentration of at-risk populations.

Of the 8.7 million Iraqis who will need some form of assistance in 2018, humanitarian partners will provide support to a subset of highly vulnerable people. In line with the HRP’s strategic objectives, partners will:

Provide services and assistance packages to 1.5 million displaced people living in camps and informal settlements

Provide assistance packages to 350,000 highly vulnerable people who are unable to return unless helped

Help to secure safe access to and provide sequenced emergency packages to 300,000 people who may be newly or secondarily displaced during the year

Provide assistance packages and facilitate access to services for 1.25 million highly vulnerable people who are not covered by the Government’s social protection floor

Provide specialized assistance and protection for 2.2 million people

Given the centrality of the return process in 2018, humanitarian partners are committed to working at all levels to support the Government’s policy of safe, dignified and voluntary returns. In line with a framework for principled returns adopted by the Humanitarian Country Team in early 2018, partners will:

Provide guidance on the parameters of principled returns, including measures to ensure the process is voluntary, safe, informed, dignified, non-discriminatory and sustainable

Advocate against forced, premature or obstructed returns and coordinate closely with authorities on governorate plans for camp consolidation and closure, including mechanisms to ensure residents are able to choose whether to return, remain or resettle

Encourage and assist the Government to provide timely, accurate information on services and conditions in return areas, facilitate registration and security clearances for returning families, and where appropriate, arrange familiarization visits and transport home for highly vulnerable families

Strengthen the Real-Time Accountability Partnership, including steps to address gender-based violence during displacement and returns

Help ensure the newly established JCMC Community Resource Centres provide information to local residents on available services and advise on gaps which can be temporarily covered through humanitarian programming while Government programmes are scaling-up

Strengthen referral mechanisms to Government health, education legal, protection and food support services

CASH ASSISTANCE

Displaced and destitute families continue to show an overwhelming preference for cash assistance. In 2018, 25 per cent of all humanitarian programming channelled through the Humanitarian Response Plan will be cash programming, including grants and vouchers for food, school-costs, hygiene and household items. Cash programming will also include multipurpose cash transfers and cash-for-work activities. Members of the Cash Working Group are coordinating closely with national authorities to agree on modalities for helping families access Government support services and to ensure that the cash assistance being provided by humanitarian partners does not undermine or duplicate the Government’s own transfer programmes.

HUMANITARIAN

ACCESS AND OPERATIONAL CAPACITY

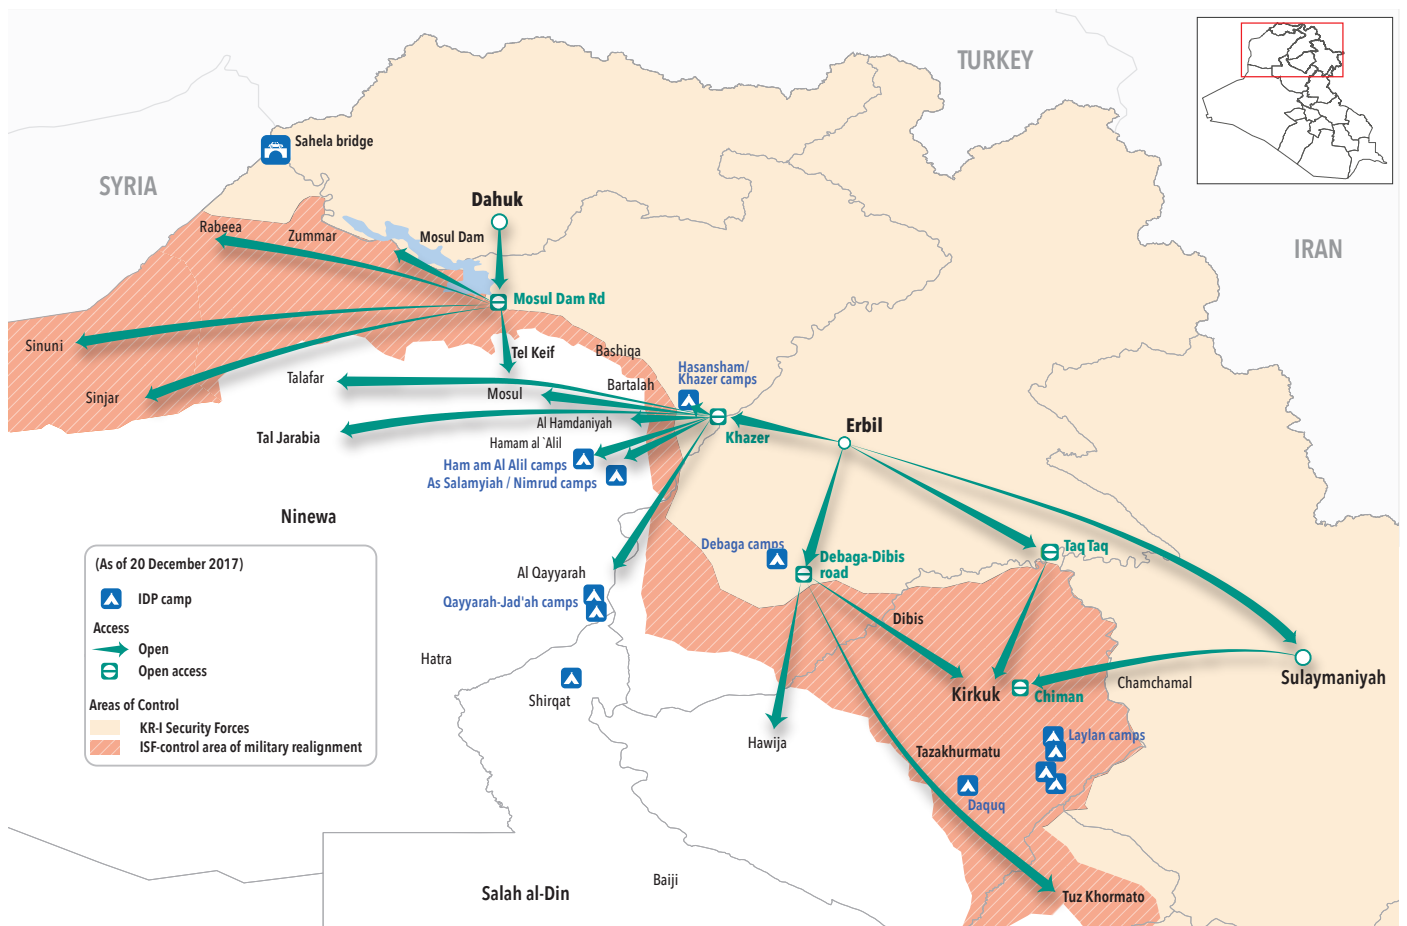

Large areas previously cut off from humanitarian assistance have become accessible

Humanitarian access and operational capacity are continuing to expand; 179 partners are currently active in 46 major operational areas. During 2017, as Iraqi security forces retook major cities and districts in Salah al-Din, Kirkuk, Anbar and Ninewa governorates, nearly five million civilians became newly accessible.

With support from the JCMC in Baghdad and JCC in Erbil, operational capacity in retaken areas increased 113 per cent in Ninewa during 2017, 52 per cent in Salah al-Din, 47 per cent in Kirkuk and 13 per cent in Anbar. In Mosul city, humanitarian partners accessed and provided assistance in 76 neighbourhoods in 2016 and reached all 145 neighbourhoods with assistance in 2017.

Although a number of constraints on the movement of staff and goods were experienced following the restriction on flights to the Kurdistan Region of Iraq in late September and the military realignment in disputed areas in mid-October, authorities are working closely with OCHA to facilitate NGO registration, issue visas and arrange permits and cargo clearance. Since late September, more than 1,000 emergency visa requests have been processed by Baghdad authorities, including 900 for NGOs.

OCHA's civil-military liaison team continues to secure access and coordinate with authorities to address instances of extortion, harassment and delays and closures at checkpoints. Restrictions on national staff because of sectarian, ethnic and tribal affiliations are also being addressed through the good offices of the Humanitarian Coordinator.

Pooled funding mechanisms support strategic coordination to ensure assistance gets to front line areas, where it is needed most

In the lead-up to the Mosul operation, the Government, supported by the Humanitarian Country Team, established new coordination structures and strengthened others. A High Level Advisory Team was established by the Prime Minister before military operations began to oversee all strategic components of the operation. A working group brought together Baghdad's Joint Coordination and Monitoring Centre and Kurdistan's Joint Crisis Coordination Centre.

OCHA's civil-military coordination and access team established strategic and working level contacts with the military and all security organs and forces involved in the operation and convened a working group of front-line partners to improve access to newly retaken areas. OCHA established zone coordination offices for each of the four quadrants of the city and activated a Humanitarian Operations Centre bringing clusters and operational partners together each day to review priorities, plan operations and identify and overcome bottlenecks. The Humanitarian Coordinator established an Emergency Cell, attended daily by the heads of UN agencies in their roles as cluster leads. The Humanitarian Country Team and Inter-Cluster Working Group met weekly, and then fortnightly.

In December 2017, one month after military operations against ISIL concluded, the Inter-Agency Standing Committee deactivated Iraq as a Level 3 Emergency; many of the ground structures established to address the Mosul crisis were also deactivated. During 2018, the HCT will be reviewing all existing structures. Structures which have out-lived their purpose will be deactivated; others required to facilitate the new phase, including governorates returns committee, will be established to help manage the contraction of humanitarian operations.

The Humanitarian Response Plans for Iraq have been the most highly prioritized in the region for three years and among the highest-funded globally. Pooled funding mechanisms, including the Central Emergency Response Fund (CERF) in New York and the Iraq Humanitarian Fund (IHF) have been used strategically to support front-line operations. In 2017, the IHF was the third largest country-based pooled fund globally, allocating US$ 71.7 million to support 62 partners implement 127 projects. Established in June 2015, the Fund has channelled more than US$ 180 million to humanitarian partners, including through direct funding to national NGOs. In the case of Mosul, the CERF and the IHF have been the first, fastest and largest funding mechanisms available for humanitarian partners, together contributing US$ 100 million in 2016 and 2017.

OPERATIONAL PRESENCE IN 2017

This map shows number and presence of organizations that responded to humanitarian needs in 2017. Numbers per governorate are not mutually exclusive, an organization may operate in more than one governorate.

RESPONSE

MONITORING

Real-time information is being collected by mobile teams and shared across clusters

On the ground, clusters are working more closely together than ever before, using common methodologies to assess needs and sharing real-time information to help improve targeting and response. Starting with the Mosul operation, inter-cluster mobile teams are collecting first-hand information and disseminating this to partners working in areas receiving displaced populations, including transit points, screening sites and in emergency camps. In difficult-to-reach areas, clusters are engaging more regularly with local leaders and organizations, helping to improve situational awareness. Clusters are also continuing to improve cluster-specific mechanisms for collecting, processing and analyzing data and are using dashboards to measure progress against agreed targets.

The Iraq IDP Information Centre continues to receive inputs and suggestions from displaced people who call the hotline, often with concerns about gaps in service delivery. This information is being immediately shared with clusters, helping partners to respond quickly to emerging problems.

At the strategic level, the Government of Iraq and Kurdistan Regional Government continue to jointly monitor progress during meetings of the High Level Advisory Team. The Government's Crisis Emergency Cell meets regularly, developing plans and monitoring progress against these. In the Kurdistan Region of Iraq, strategic monitoring is being done under the leadership of the Ministry of Interior, with support from the JCC. The Humanitarian Country Team continues to regularly progress against the strategic objectives in the Humanitarian Response Plan, adapting and correcting course, where necessary, in response to emerging priorities.

ACCOUNTABILITY TO

People receiving assistance continue to provide feedback and guidance to humanitarian partners

Humanitarian partners are committed to improving outreach and engagement with affected populations through three key mechanisms.

The Iraq IDP Information Centre, a free hot-line established in 2015, has already received more than 100,000 calls from people impacted by the crisis. During 2018, the centre is committed to streamlining and accelerating referral procedures, improving two-way communication channels and expanding its data sharing platforms with clusters to shorten response times.

Partners are also helping to establish and support Community Resource Centres in return areas. These new centres, which will be staffed by the JCMC and include personnel seconded by agencies and clusters, will provide information to returnees and local residents on the services being delivered by both the Government and humanitarian clusters. Community Resource Centres will also identify gaps in service delivery that can be temporarily covered by humanitarian partners while the Government's social protection floor is being re-established.

The Real-Time Accountability Partnership, which was rolled out in Iraq in 2017, aims to prevent and address sexual exploitation and abuse among humanitarian partners and field staff. During 2018, the partnership will strengthen feedback channels from the IDP Information Centre and continue to work closely with the mechanism established in the Government's National Operation Centre to investigate and adjudicate all violations of humanitarian principles and international humanitarian law, including sexual and gender-based violence.

NO LOST GENERATION

Children and youth are the most impacted by the crisis in Iraq. The No Lost Generation initiative aims to address this by increasing access to inclusive and quality education for more than 1.7 million children and youth. Partners are working around-the-clock to protect unaccompanied and separated children, those associated with armed groups and children in detention. Special efforts are being made to expand psychosocial support and facilitate case identification and referrals in learning spaces. Partners are also helping to promote employability skills and knowledge and protect adolescents and younger children from sexual exploitation, being recruited into armed groups or forced into child marriage and child labour.

Over 150 attacks on schools and personnel were verified and at least 31 schools were used by military forces

490 children were reported to have been recruited by military actors

1,168 grave child rights violations affecting 3,601 children were reported

399 children were reported to have been killed and 664 injured as a result of conflict. Actual numbers believed to be much higher.

Figures by the end of November 2017

Over 30 per cent of youth are currently not in employment, education or training

CRISIS

OVERVIEW AND IMPACT

The Kurdistan Region continues to protect and support displaced families

Over one million internally displaced people and refugees have sought safety in the three Kurdish governorates since the start of the crisis. Close to 30 per cent of displaced Iraqis and nearly all of the 250,000 Syrian refugees in the country are living in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq. Eighty per cent of the displaced are living in rented houses or with host families. The remainder are hosted in camps across Dahuk, Erbil and Sulaymaniyah.

Pressures on local services, including schools, water and sanitation, solid waste management, health facilities and competition for jobs have increased each year, contributing to a sharp decline in living standards across the three governorates. Conditions worsened in the aftermath of the Kurdish referendum in late September when international flights to the airports in Erbil and Sulaymaniyah were suspended, impacting economic activity and commerce. In mid-October, as security forces realigned in Kirkuk and a number of disputed districts, more than 180,000 people fled their homes, the majority seeking safety and support in Erbil and Sulaymaniyah.

Many humanitarian organizations which had been operating in the country with Kurdistan Regional Government authorization are now required to regularize their status with authorities in Baghdad. Communities in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq continue to be generous, providing for families when they have nowhere else to turn, but local capacities are stretched and the Kurdistan Regional Government requires significant assistance from the international community to continue supporting large numbers of displaced in the year ahead.

PEOPLE IN NEED

The crisis in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq is entering its fourth year

An estimated 736,000 people living in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq are estimated to require some form of humanitarian assistance in 2018. The Joint Crisis Coordination Centre, headquartered in Erbil, continues to lead the response in coordination with partners; the three JCC governorate offices in Dahuk, Erbil and Sulaymaniyah are responsible for operational coordination.

More than 271,000 people in Dahuk Governorate are estimated to need some form of humanitarian assistance in 2018. Dahuk is one of the smallest governorates in Iraq, yet hosts one of the largest displaced populations. In many of the camps for displaced families, tents are worn-out and need to be replaced and water, sanitation and livelihood programmes need to be expanded. There are also three camps for Syrian refugees in the governorate. Dahuk remains a major humanitarian hub supporting operations in Telafar and Sinjar districts in Ninewa Governorate.

About 358,000 vulnerable people in Erbil Governorate are estimated to need some form of humanitarian assistance in 2018. Erbil hosts 10 per cent of the displaced population in Iraq; most displaced families originate from Ninewa, Anbar, Kirkuk or are from within the governorate. Nearly a third were displaced in June and July 2014; others fled after July 2017. More than 80 per cent of displaced families live in rented houses. Almost all of the affected people are concentrated in the Erbil and Makhmour districts; 10 per cent reside in additional three districts of Koinsnajaq, Shaqlawa and Soran. Iraq's largest refugee group resides in Erbil and Shaqlawa districts. Displaced families require water, sanitation and hygiene, household items, food, health services, education and protection.

More than 107,000 vulnerable people in Sulaymaniyah Governorate are estimated to need some form of humanitarian assistance in 2018. Most displaced families fled Anbar and Salah al-Din governorates in 2014 and 2015. In October 2017, new displacement took place, mainly from Kirkuk Governorate and Touz Khurmato district in Salah al-Din. Displaced families require water, sanitation and hygiene, household items, food, health services, education and protection.

The aim of the cluster is to provide protection support to highly vulnerable women, men, girls and boys affected by the conflict.

The Protection Cluster will target 2.2 million people living in camps and informal settlements, highly vulnerable people who are unable to return to their areas of origin without assistance, people who may be newly or secondarily displaced during the year, and highly vulnerable people who are not covered by the government’s social protection floor. To achieve its target, the cluster will provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable people as follows:

PROTECTION OBJECTIVE 1:

1 Provide protection assistance, for highly vulnerable displaced persons living in camp and non-camp settings

FOR PEOPLE LIVING IN CAMPS AND INFORMAL SETTLEMENTS, the Protection Cluster will provide protection assistance, including community-based support, particularly for displaced people who cannot return home, by:

- Maintaining a presence in camp and non-camp settings and identifying people requiring specialized protection services
- Providing specialized protection services, including psychosocial support, victim assistance, and legal assistance with civil documentation
- Engaging with authorities to ensure families are able to make informed, voluntary decisions about residency

PROTECTION OBJECTIVE 2:

2 Provide protection assistance, for highly vulnerable persons, to facilitate voluntary, safe, non-discriminatory and sustainable returns

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE UNABLE TO RETURN UNLESS HELPED, the Protection Cluster will engage with authorities and displaced families to help ensure that returns are voluntary, safe and dignified by:

- Identifying, in coordination with the CCCM Cluster, highly vulnerable displaced families who are willing to return to their areas of origin but lack the means to do so
- Developing and disseminating information essential to making informed decisions on returns in coordination with the Communication with Communities Taskforce
- Prioritizing pre-departure risk education and monitoring points of departure and return to determine whether movements are voluntary, safe, non-discriminatory and sustainable
- Referring vulnerable people to, and where appropriate providing, specialized services in return areas

PROTECTION OBJECTIVE 3:

3 Deliver immediate support to newly displaced persons by facilitating access to safety and providing protection assistance

PROTECTION OBJECTIVE 4:

4 Provide assistance to vulnerable individuals in mixed populations areas to access government social protection systems, and provision of other specialized protection services

FOR PEOPLE WHO MAY BE NEWLY OR SECONDARILY DISPLACED DURING THE YEAR, the Protection Cluster will provide immediate protection assistance by:

- Dispatching mobile protection teams to identify highly vulnerable newly displaced people
- Referring highly vulnerable displaced people to specialized services, including emergency support for survivors of gender-based violence, identification, tracing and reunification for unaccompanied and separated children, and legal assistance for individuals who are detained
- Clearing access routes and providing emergency mine risk education

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE NOT COVERED BY THE GOVERNMENT'S SOCIAL PROTECTION FLOOR, the Protection Cluster will refer highly vulnerable people to government social protection systems and where gaps exist will help to cover these by:

- Identifying individuals not adequately covered by social protection systems and referring them to Community Resource Centres or other centres providing specialized assistance
- Surveying mine-contaminated areas and prioritizing emergency clearance in the catchment area of service providers
- Providing, on a temporary basis, specialized protection services to help cover gaps in the Government's social protection floor

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- Privacy and confidentiality of information on vulnerable individuals, particularly in Gender-Based Violence (GBV) and child protection cases, may be compromised during identification and referral processes, with potential serious consequences. To mitigate this risk, GBV information sharing protocols, including informed consent will be reinforced. Similarly, the Child Protection Sub-Cluster will roll out a new information management platform for case management in 2018, with a strengthened information management protocol to ensure confidentiality.
- Older persons and people with disabilities or chronic conditions may experience barriers when trying to access protection assistance and/or face heightened vulnerability to exploitation and abuse. To mitigate this risk, protection partners will conduct home visits and support access to adapted services, as needed.
- Stigma associated with accessing protection services may prevent vulnerable people accessing these services. To mitigate this risk, partners will integrate protection activities into other sectoral interventions to reduce this stigma.
- Ongoing security risks often prevent timely decontamination of explosive hazards. To mitigate this risk, the Mine Action Sub-Cluster will continue to work with relevant stakeholders to gain access and provide timely coordinated responses wherever possible.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Protection Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Enabling a responsible transition of service delivery from international to national non-governmental organizations, with a focus on supporting national partners to identify and manage complex cases requiring specialized protection assistance and conducting targeted advocacy with relevant authorities on protection issues;
- Working with affected communities to strengthen community-based protection mechanisms, build capacity to identify local-level protection needs and risks, contribute to long-term behaviour change, and advocate with relevant authorities to address identified needs;
- Ensuring that vulnerable individuals are supported to access government social protection systems;
- Working closely with government counterparts to ensure adherence to minimum standards.

The aim of the cluster is to reduce morbidity and mortality for displaced and vulnerable people in conflict-affected and other critical areas.

The cluster will target 3.4 million people living in camps and informal settlements, highly vulnerable people who are unable to return to their areas of origin without assistance, people who may be newly or secondarily displaced during the year, and highly vulnerable people who are not covered by the Government’s social protection floor. To achieve its target, the cluster will provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable people as follows:

HEALTH OBJECTIVE 1:

1 Provide access to quality essential healthcare services, including psychosocial support to highly vulnerable people

HEALTH OBJECTIVE 2:

2 Ensuring access to critical lifesaving healthcare services and specialized services to newly displaced and currently accessible families by engaging with local authorities and humanitarian partners

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE NOT COVERED BY THE GOVERNMENT'S SOCIAL PROTECTION FLOOR, the Health Cluster will help refer vulnerable people to government health services, and where gaps exist, will help to cover these by:

- Referring returnees with special needs to protection partners to ensure continued, specialized care after their health needs have been met
- Providing essential health services to vulnerable groups, including outpatient care, emergency services, referral to secondary care, maternity and new-born care, mental health and substance use services, including behavioural health treatment, prescription drugs, patient rehabilitative services and assistive devices, laboratory services, preventive and wellness services and chronic disease management

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- Arms within camps and health clinics may interfere with service provision to affected populations. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will flag such incidents to Camp Management personnel and the Protection Cluster, while also instructing partner agencies that their staff should not be permitted to carry arms.
- People in need of mental health and psychosocial support may have inadequate access to services. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will refer these cases to partners that can transfer them to hospitals where specialized support is available.
- Gender-Based Violence (GBV) cases requiring medical treatment may have difficulty accessing services. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will provide appropriate medical treatment in coordination with GBV and Protection Clusters, per the guidelines on the clinical management of rape, which is endorsed by the Ministry of Health.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Health Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Ensuring that the partners handover services to the Department of Health (DoH) and that the DoH has sufficient capacity for service provision when a health project is closed;
- Advocating for funding if a project faces closure due to insufficient funding and there is a continued need for service provision;
- Mapping health facilities with the aim of identifying facilities that are already being supported under stabilization programmes. To maximise available resources, the cluster will focus its resources on facilities that are not supported by these programmes;
- Handing over field hospitals, mobile clinics and primary health centres to relevant health authorities. The cluster will ensure that there is demonstrated ability and willingness to continue providing services, without compromising service quality.

WATER, SANITATION AND HYGIENE

PEOPLE IN NEED 5.4M	PEOPLE TARGETED 2.4M	REQUIREMENTS $70M	# HRP PARTNERS 35

The aim of the cluster is to ensure that at-risk communities receive safe, sustained, equitable access to a sufficient quantity of water, sanitation and hygiene.

The cluster will target 2.4 million people living in camps and informal settlements, highly vulnerable people who are unable to return to their areas of origin without assistance, people who may be newly or secondarily displaced during the year, and highly vulnerable people who are not covered by the government’s social protection floor. To achieve its target, the cluster will provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable people as follows:

WASH OBJECTIVE 1:

1 Operate, sustain and improve standards of water and sanitation services, and provide an enabling environment for good hygiene practices in protracted displacement (in and out of camps) and in areas of returns settings

WASH OBJECTIVE 2:

2 Provide safe and accessible emergency water and sanitation services and support good hygiene practices for only highly vulnerable populations in and out of camps, new displacement, high risk areas and other shocks

WASH OBJECTIVE 3:

3 Facilitate establishment of equitable, sustainable and cost effective water and sanitation services including community focused hygiene promotion, and facilitate takeover of care and maintenance to communities and local authorities

FOR PEOPLE LIVING IN CAMPS AND INFORMAL SETTLEMENTS, the WASH Cluster will operate, sustain and improve water and sanitation services and promote good hygiene practices by:

- Operating and upgrading facilities
- Introducing cost-effective and durable solutions for water, sanitation and hygiene, including transitioning and exiting from water trucking
- Testing and monitoring water quality and water supply
- Extending water and sanitation networks and connecting users to existing facilities
- Helping communities to conserve water, manage solid waste and wastewater and expand market-based hygiene options
- Decommissioning water and sanitation facilities in camps that are consolidating and closing for reuse elsewhere
- Strengthening technical capacities of WASH actors, committees and local authorities

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE UNABLE TO RETURN UNLESS HELPED, the WASH Cluster will provide emergency water and sanitation services and promote good hygiene practices by:

- Providing a WASH package containing a household water filter or water treatment tablets and hygiene items, including buckets and jerry cans
- Carrying out basic repairs of damaged water infrastructure in priority return areas

FOR PEOPLE WHO MAY BE NEWLY OR SECONDARILY DISPLACED DURING THE YEAR, the WASH Cluster will provide emergency water and sanitation services and promote good hygiene services by:

- Testing and monitoring water quality
- Disseminating key hygiene messages, monitoring hygiene distributions and establishing WASH committees

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE NOT COVERED BY THE GOVERNMENT’S SOCIAL PROTECTION FLOOR, the WASH Cluster will provide emergency water and sanitation services and promote good hygiene practises in priority areas where government services are not fully functioning by:

- Providing, where services do not yet exist, emergency water and sanitation services, including water trucking and temporary latrines
- Distributing core relief items to highly vulnerable populations
- Piloting cost-effective technologies for water supply, wastewater treatment and disposal systems
- Promoting community-based hygiene and water conservation measures
- Piloting the use of vouchers to meet water, sanitation and hygiene needs for highly vulnerable people

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- A lack of protection awareness by WASH service providers may limit protection mainstreaming. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will build partner capacity to mainstream protection activities, in coordination with the Protection Cluster. WASH field teams will receive protection training and context-specific tools will be disseminated.
- Specific vulnerable groups may struggle to access WASH services. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will ensure WASH services are more accessible by consultatively addressing the specific needs of the elderly, people living with disabilities, and other vulnerable groups.
- Implementation of WASH services might create other protection concerns. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will ensure WASH services follow a 'do no harm' approach by systematically analysing the benefits of the response versus its potential negative impacts and mitigate these risks accordingly. For instance, the cluster will ensure facilities consistently meet quality standards in terms of lighting, privacy and gender segregation. It will also receive feedback on protections issues from partners and users through WASH committees, community-based groups, and local representatives.
- Participation from the beneficiaries may be minimized due to lack of empowerment. To mitigate this, the cluster will train male and female service providers, hygiene promoters and WASH committees to ensure decision-making, monitoring and care for installed infrastructure is a shared responsibility. In addition to using available complaints mechanisms and referral of protection issues, focused group sessions and feedback from especially vulnerable interest groups of women, child-headed households and people with disabilities will be factored into planning, design and implementation of WASH services.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Water, Sanitation and Hygiene Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Strengthening coordination with the local authorities or line departments in WASH;
- Working towards phasing out emergency WASH interventions, such as water trucking, by restoring WASH services in newly accessible and return areas, exploring public-private partnerships, improving municipal infrastructure and readying activities for handover to relevant authorities;
- Prioritizing the rehabilitation and restoration of existing facilities with a phased linkage to stabilization and government partners;
- Empowering local partners to manage WASH services by directly involving affected people at all stages, from design and installation to facility maintenance;
- Strengthening local capacity through training and promote community engagement, in preparation for the handover of water and sanitation facilities directly to communities;
- Building and strengthening the capacities of national NGOs to sustain current WASH service delivery and expand it to high-risk areas, and to scale up emergency WASH interventions as needed;
- Reducing dependence on in-kind donations and phasing out hygiene kit distributions, instead pursuing market-based approaches, including vouchers, and livelihoods opportunities, where possible.

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take all possible measures to operationalize its activities. These mitigation measures are as follows:

- Distributions may put some people at risk of protection violations. To mitigate this risk, cluster partners have developed guidelines to help frontline partners operationalize protection activities that promote safe and dignified distributions to affected people.
- Incidences of sexual exploitation and abuse may occur. To mitigate this risk, the cluster is increasing its cooperation with the Iraq Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse (PSEA) network, which will provide additional awareness, trainings, and joint field visits.
- Returns may occur that are not safe, dignified or voluntary. To mitigate this risk, the cluster works closely with the Protection Cluster and in line with the recommendations of the Inter-Cluster Coordination Group.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Food Security Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Developing a transition strategy for the downscaling of cluster activities, in close cooperation with the relevant ministries as well as WFP and FAO. The strategy will identify relevant stakeholders and priorities in the lead-up to cluster deactivation, along with handover activities to facilitate the transition;
- Prioritizing the capacity-building and mainstreaming activities of cluster members and stakeholders.

The cluster will target 1.9 million people living in camps and informal settlements, highly vulnerable people who are unable to return to their areas of origin without assistance, people who may be newly or secondarily displaced during the year, and highly vulnerable people who are not covered by the government’s social protection floor. To achieve its target, the cluster will provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable people as follows:

SHELTER / NFI OBJECTIVE 1:

1 Provide safe, appropriate emergency shelter and critical life-saving non-food items to newly displaced or highly vulnerable populations in secondary displacement

- Providing sealing-off kits, helping to upgrade unfinished and abandoned buildings and providing rental subsidies to people outside camps at risk of secondary displacement

SHELTER / NFI OBJECTIVE 2:

2 Improve the living conditions of highly vulnerable IDPs in protracted displacement and host communities through shelter and non-food item assistance in accordance with Cluster minimum standards

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- Targeted interventions may cause social tension among people not benefitting from the interventions. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will work with local authorities and communities to identify vulnerabilities when planning, selecting and implementing distributions.
- Some shelter and non-food items interventions may be unsustainable. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will work with affected communities and involve local authorities. The cluster will also work with livelihood specialists to explore labour opportunities when implementing shelter programmes. With the House, Land and Property (HLP) working group, the cluster will also promote that beneficiaries have access to HLP documentation for their housing.
- Some interventions may not be equitable and accessible to all. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will conduct assessments to determine eligibility based on vulnerability, the shelter situation, and legality of providing support. The cluster provides equal access to both in-kind and cash/voucher implementation programmes.
- Some programmes may not be beneficiary-centred, or may not address people's most urgent needs. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will emphasise participation and empowerment of communities. A targeted approach that identifies and prioritizes the most vulnerable families will be used. The delivery mechanisms will ensure equal access to in-kind and cash-based assistance. A feedback and post-distribution monitoring mechanisms will be in place.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, , the Shelter and Non-Food Items Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Exploring linkages and opportunities for complementarity with, and transition to, various government support programs. Continuous monitoring of humanitarian needs of beneficiaries will nonetheless be necessary to prevent a deterioration or re-emergence of shelter and non-food items vulnerabilities;
- Coordination and aligning activities with stabilization and development actors;
- Supporting government partners and civil society with technical capacity building to ensure more resilient and durable approaches when providing shelter and non-food items;
- Supporting local government capacity to respond to new emergency needs that may arise throughout the year. An emergency preparedness capacity will be maintained to promptly fill in any gap in this area.

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- Vulnerable displaced groups, in particular women, girls, people with disabilities, and the elderly, will continue to be at heightened risk of discrimination and exclusion. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will continue to identify the specific needs and risk factors related to these groups, and map actors that can address them. The cluster will mainstream protection activities, including the mitigation of gender-based violence and protection from sexual exploitation and abuse. The cluster will strengthen its partnership with the Protection Cluster when providing assistance packages to highly vulnerable returnees and managing the sequenced camp life cycle. Both initiatives are intended to increase advocacy and enable informed, safe and dignified opportunities to identify durable solutions to end displacement.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, , the Camp Coordination and Camp Management Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Strengthening collaboration and activity alignment with relevant authorities to ensure durable solutions for displaced people are developed;
- Supporting the Government with the management of its sequenced camp life-cycle strategy, including developing tools, standard operating procedures (SOPs) and sharing best practices for camp decommissioning and consolidation;
- Working with the relevant authorities and organizations on the design, coordination and implementation of a country-wide formal capacity-building strategy for camp coordination and camp management;
- Working closely with key federal, regional and local government agencies to improve accountability.

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE NOT COVERED BY THE GOVERNMENT'S SOCIAL PROTECTION FLOOR, the Education Cluster will help the Government to expand education opportunities in areas where services are not fully functional by:

- Identifying highly vulnerable children and advocating for fee waivers and other measures to facilitate their access
- Providing a minimum package of learning materials, including exercise books, pens, bags and uniforms for these children
- Referring highly vulnerable children to institutions and partners providing cash transfers
- Advocating for the inclusion of highly vulnerable children in other social protection schemes

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- Children exposed to violence may be prone to violent behaviour in schools. To mitigate this risk, education partners, in collaboration with protection partners, will continue to ensure that children receive psychosocial support. Partners will also continue to work with teachers on positive discipline, so as not to reinforce violence.
- Contamination of learning spaces in newly accessible areas and areas of return with explosive hazards may pose a serious threat to the lives of children and teachers. To mitigate this risk, the cluster will collaborate with protection actors, including UNMAS, on the clearing of learning spaces and providing mine risk education. School teachers will be trained to inform children on what to do in case they come across suspicious objects.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Education Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Handing over cluster-managed learning spaces, teacher recruitment, and the payment of teacher's salaries, to the Ministry of Education (MoE);
- Advocating for the necessary inclusions in the national budget of the MoE to ensure it can assume the management of education facilities currently supported by cluster partners;
- Furthering the capacity of national organizations to plan for, respond to, and establish preparedness measures in education;
- Encouraging the active participation of governorate Directorates of Education in the cluster, both at national and at subnational levels. It is envisaged that current coordination mechanisms become active working groups that increasingly focus on development issues;
- Providing support to governorate Directorates of Education to improve data collection and information sharing systems.

EMERGENCY LIVELIHOODS

The aim of the cluster is to help increase the household incomes of highly vulnerable conflict-affected families.

The cluster will target 20,000 highly vulnerable people who are unable to return to their areas of origin without assistance. To achieve its target, the cluster will provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable people as follows:

LIVELIHOODS OBJECTIVE 1:

1 Provide immediate access to income to support highly vulnerable displaced persons living in camps, temporary, formal and informal settlements in order to assist and facilitate safe returns and strengthen resilience

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE UNABLE TO RETURN UNLESS HELPED, the Emergency Livelihoods Cluster will help families secure the resources they need to remain in return areas by:

- Providing cash transfers to recover productive assets or mobile and easy to transport assets before families return
- Providing cash-for-work options for highly vulnerable families in priority return areas

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- Markets for securing goods may not be available in areas where there is an urgent need for income. To mitigate this risk, a dual response of cash for work and emergency asset recovery in the same area, simultaneously addressing both issues, will be implemented.
- In some areas where the need for urgent income and asset restoration may be high, there may also be a lack of cash liquidity. To mitigate this risk, cluster partners will implement a dual response of cash for work and emergency asset recovery in the same area, simultaneously addressing both issues.
- Emergency livelihood partners may exclude youth/children (15-17 years of age) due to protection and child labour concerns, excluding youth-headed households and youth that are otherwise vulnerable to exploitative labour practices. To mitigate this risk, partners will consult protection (specifically child protection) specialists for guidance on beneficiary selection and how to employ this at-risk sector of the population.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Emergency Livelihoods Cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Coordinating response activities with local authorities and community leaders. Facilities targeted for rehabilitation through cash-for-work schemes will be selected through consultation with community counterparts, supported by local facilitators and authorities.
- Ensuring that at the start of interventions, partners raise awareness among local leaders and beneficiaries on how projects will end.
- Referring those in need of emergency asset recovery to longer term, development-oriented interventions that can support them after receiving their initial asset grants.

The aim of the Rapid Response Mechanism (RRM) is to deliver immediate, life-saving supplies within 72 hours to vulnerable people who are on the move, either displaced in crisis, moving between camps or requiring assistance to repatriate to their areas of origin.

The RRM will target 600,000 people living in camps and informal settlements, highly vulnerable people who are unable to return to their areas of origin without assistance, and people who may be newly or secondarily displaced during the year. To achieve its target, the cluster will provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable people as follows:

RRM OBJECTIVE 1:

1 Provide immediate, life-saving emergency supplies to families who are on the move, in hard-to-reach areas, caught at checkpoints or stranded close to the front lines, including those who will require RRM assistance multiple times and during inter-camp movements

FOR PEOPLE LIVING IN CAMPS AND INFORMAL SETTLEMENTS, the RRM will help highly vulnerable people during inter-camp movements by:

- Providing emergency packages, including support to vulnerable individuals who require short-term assistance multiple times

RRM OBJECTIVE 2:

2 Provide immediate emergency supplies to the most vulnerable families requiring support to return to their areas of origin, minimizing vulnerabilities during repatriation

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE UNABLE TO RETURN UNLESS HELPED, the RRM will help minimize vulnerabilities during returns by:

- Providing a special return emergency package to people travelling long distances, who are stranded at checkpoints or are in hard-to-reach areas

RRM OBJECTIVE 3:

3 Enhance rapid response capacity of government actors and local authorities to cope with future emergencies, by equipping stakeholders with tools and knowledge to apply RRM concepts and best practices

FOR PEOPLE WHO MAY BE NEWLY OR SECONDARILY DISPLACED DURING THE YEAR, the RRM will help minimize vulnerabilities during the initial period of displacement by:

- Activating Rapid Response Teams when movements are confirmed and distributing easily portable emergency kits within 72 hours, sufficient to last a family of six for a week, including bottled water, ready-to-eat food and hygiene and dignity kits
- Providing families of more than six people with two RRM packages and a light package of food and water to displaced people and returnees in transit
- Initiating rapid needs assessments as soon as distributions are over to trigger further sectoral responses as appropriate

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- An accelerated returns process may pose protection risks. To mitigate this risk, the RRM consortium will only target organized returns that fully concur with protection principles, in line with the RRM consortium's commitment to these principles.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Rapid Response Mechanism will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Strengthening the capacity of relevant federal, regional, and local government structures to better cope with future emergencies. The RRM will transfer knowledge related to RRM concepts, lessons, best practices and operational modalities through workshops and trainings throughout 2018, with a view to handover RRM activities in 2019.

The aim of the sector is to help ensure that highly vulnerable families receive direct financial support in the form of cash transfers.

The sector will target 1.5 million people living in camps and informal settlements, highly vulnerable people who are unable to return to their areas of origin without assistance, people who may be newly or secondarily displaced during the year, and highly vulnerable people who are not covered by the Government's social protection floor. 2 Provide multi-month cash assistance to the most vulnerable conflict-affected households

MPCA OBJECTIVE 3:

3 Facilitate vulnerable households' access to complementary and critical services, including government social protection systems

FOR PEOPLE LIVING IN CAMPS AND INFORMAL SETTLEMENTS, the Multipurpose Cash Assistance Sector will provide multi-month cash assistance to the most vulnerable households residing outside formal camps by:

- Referring families to government and relevant services
- Referring families without legal documents to protection actors
- Conducting post-distribution monitoring
- Monitoring items in the survival minimum expenditure basket, analysing price trends and adjusting the transfer value as required

FOR HIGHLY VULNERABLE PEOPLE WHO ARE NOT COVERED BY THE GOVERNMENT'S SOCIAL PROTECTION FLOOR, the Multipurpose Cash Assistance Sector will facilitate access to government social protection systems by:

- Working closely with Community Resource Centres and counterparts to identify locations with functioning markets where government services are not fully re-established
- Conducting vulnerability assessments and identifying highly vulnerable families who need support to meet their basic needs
- Providing multi-month cash assistance to highly vulnerable households not adequately covered by social protection systems
- Referring families to relevant services and government social protection mechanisms
- Referring families without legal documents to protection actors
- Conducting post-distribution monitoring and providing families who remain vulnerable with additional multi-month cash assistance
- Monitoring items in the survival minimum expenditure basket, analysing price trends and adjusting the transfer value as required

ADDRESSING PROTECTION RISKS

To mitigate identified protection risks, the cluster will take the following measures:

- The provision of targeted cash assistance to the most vulnerable may cause tension within communities if transparent communication and accountability mechanisms are not in place. To mitigate this risk, multipurpose cash partners will provide clear information to communities in line with standardized communication tools, ensuring that robust two-way communication channels are in place. Harmonizing targeting criteria and transfer values amongst all multipurpose cash partners also serves to lessen tension within the communities.
- The distribution of cash can cause inflation if markets are unable to meet rising demand. To mitigate this risk, multipurpose cash partners conduct joint market assessments prior to the delivery of cash assistance to determine whether the market can support such an intervention. This is followed by monthly price monitoring so that the partners are aware of price trends and can act early if inflation is detected.

EXIT STRATEGY

During 2018, the Multipurpose Cash Assistance cluster will focus on laying the groundwork for its exit strategy. This will involve:

- Reinforcing government social protection programmes by establishing links between humanitarian Multipurpose Cash Assistance programmes and existing social safety nets, in cooperation with government and international partners;
- Working with government and development partners to establish robust referral mechanisms to critical services, such as health and education, as well as to livelihood programmes;
- Referring households without access to legal documents to relevant legal assistance programmes.

WHAT IF? ...WE FAIL TO RESPOND

WE RISK LOSING THE GAINS THAT WE HAVE ACHIEVED SO FAR...

In 2017, amongst other achievements, front-line responders met the urgent humanitarian needs in and around Mosul, assisting some 1.3 million people who survived over two years of siege-like conditions under the rule of the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant. Many lives were saved, and many families are now rebuilding their lives from the ruins. If we fail to support this rebuilding, we risk losing many of the gains that have been made.

HIGHLY VULNERABLE DISPLACED FAMILIES LIVING IN CAMPS AND SUBSTANDARD ACCOMODATION WILL NOT GET THE SERVICES AND ASSISTANCE THEY NEED

People living in camps and substandard accommodation require protection and assistance, and people will continue to rely on external support until basic security, public services and market activity in their areas has become sustainable.

PROTECTION SERVICES REMAIN PARAMOUNT. WITHOUT THESE SERVICES FAMILIES MAY BE UNABLE TO RETURN HOME, OR WILL DO SO IN UNSUSTAINABLE CONDITIONS

Social tensions and the fear of possible retribution will have a negative impact on the return of displaced people to their areas of origin. Limited livelihood opportunities, damaged buildings, unresolved housing issues, and insufficient key services such as health, water, and sanitation, will severely impact a sustainable and dignified return to normality. Many families will be unable to return home without assistance.

FAMILIES WILL BE LEFT ALONE IN MANAGING THE EXTREME RISKS FROM EXPLOSIVE DEVICES

Death and injury from explosive devices, including the deliberate booby trapping of homes and civilian infrastructure, are a daily reality for families in Iraq, particularly those people returning to former conflict affected areas. Without mine clearance assistance and education, particularly for children, families will be left alone in managing this extreme threat. If decontamination is unable to occur, returns to conflict affected areas will stagnate.

DISRUPTED HEALTH AND EDUCATION SERVICES WILL STRUGGLE, EVEN AS ACTIVE CONFLICT SUBSIDES

In recent years, national health and education systems have been disrupted and these major public services have been overstretched. Displaced, conflict-affected people, and new returnees will continue to add pressure to the health and education systems. Without significant investment, health and education services will fail to meet demand, and we risk losing any gains made.

GUIDE TO GIVING

CONTRIBUTING TO THE HUMANITARIAN RESPONSE PLAN

To see the Iraq Humanitarian Needs Overview, Humanitarian Response Plan and monitoring reports, and donate directly to organizations participating to the plan, please visit :

www.humanitarianresponse.info/operations/iraq

DONATING THROUGH THE CENTRAL EMERGENCY RESPONSE FUND (CERF)

CERF provides rapid initial funding for life-saving actions at the onset of emergencies and for poorly funded, essential humanitarian operations in protracted crises. The OCHA-managed CERF receives contributions from various donors – mainly governments, but also private companies, foundations, charities and individuals – which are combined into a single fund. This is used for crises anywhere in the world. Find out more about the CERF and how to donate by visiting the CERF website:

www.unocha.org/cerf/donate

DONATING THROUGH THE COUNTRY HUMANITARIAN FUND

The Iraq Humanitarian Fund is a country-based pooled fund: a multi-donor humanitarian financing instruments established by the Emergency Relief Coordinator and managed by OCHA at the country level under the leadership of the Humanitarian Coordinator. Find out more about the pooled fund by visiting the website:

www.unocha.org/iraq

IN-KIND RELIEF AID

The United Nations urges donors to make cash rather than in-kind donations, for maximum speed and flexibility, and to ensure the aid materials that are most needed are the ones delivered. If you can make only in-kind contributions in response to disasters and emergencies, please contact:

REGISTERING AND RECOGNIZING YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS

OCHA manages the Financial Tracking Service (FTS), which records all reported humanitarian contributions (cash, in-kind, multilateral and bilateral) to emergencies. Its purpose is to give credit and visibility to donors for their generosity and to show the total amount of funding and expose gaps in humanitarian plans. Please report yours to FTS, either by email to fts@un.org or through the online contribution report form at <http://fts.unocha.org>
