Objective 2 People of concern benefit from full and non-discriminatory access to quality essential services and enjoyment of their rights, with particular attention to the most vulnerable.	Housing, Land and Property Rights	Affected population has free and unhindered access to their property. When such access is not possible, affected population has access to adequate compensation. IDPs should be included in state social housing programmes.	 Conflict affected population has a right to enjoy their property and is entitled to adequate compensation, in case it is looted, damaged, destroyed or used for military purposes; The Government should adopt legislation to address the housing needs of IDPs, including through the full integration of IDPs in State social housing programmes. De facto authorities should ensure that no one displaced from areas they control is arbitrarily deprived of their property or possessions. Humanitarian and development partners are encouraged to establish programmes in support of IDPs' housing, land, and property rights, including advocacy, technical assistance, and information dissemination. 	 Government develops an independent procedure for verification of housing, land and property ownership and to establish a specific registry of destroyed or damaged housing. Government adopts a comprehensive legal mechanism for compensation for lost, damaged or destroyed property, including for people living in NGCA. Affected population is aware about existing mechanisms for compensation and is able to obtain compensation. 	 Advocate with the Ministry of Defense about existing challenges faced by civillians and to encourage to regulate the use of civilian property; Develop a mechanism for documenting military expropriation of civilian property; Raise awareness of the affected population about existing mechanisms of documenting property damage, destruction or occupation; Participate in the work of the Working Group on social housing (Ministry of TOT); Prepare an overview of compensation for lost property from other countries and to share it with Ministry of TOT. Contribute to development of a comprehensive mechanism for compensation for lost, damaged or destroyed property. Share information leaflets on the remedies of civilians in case of expropriation of civilian property with affected population (e.g. on EECPs) and with the MoD; Advocacte on the elaboration of a clear procedures for local authorities/CIMICs/military commandment for issuing documents certifying the fact of military occupation. 	NRC, DRC, OHCHR, UNHCR
Objective 1 To strengthen protection for people of concern, including prevention and mitigation of rights' violations. Objective 2 People of concern benefit from full and non-discriminatory access to quality essential services and enjoyment of their rights, with particular attention to the most vulnerable.	Gender Based Violence	GBV 2) Enhance GBV prevention and response mechanisms 3) Survivors of GBV have access to life-saving information on assistance, quality services in health, psychosocial and legal support.	 GBV, and particularly sexual violence, is a gross violation of physical integrity and has a devastating impact on the lives of victims, their families and communities. Lack of information about existing support mechanisms, absence of safe shelters, lack of access to justice and stigma lead to low number of GBV surviviors reporting abuse and seeking assistance, which in turn contributes to the culture of impunity. Lack of livelihoods opportunities and extreme poverty in the areas along the contact line push the most vulnerable people, especially women and girls, to resort to survival sex as a coping mechanism. Economic vulnerability also puts them at risk of human trafficking for labour or sexual exploitation. Measures aimed at prevention of sexual violence must be developed and put in place. 	 Intersectoral coordination and referral mechanisms at local level are strengthened. Number of shelters for GBV survivors is increased. Prevention and awareness raising activities on GBV are prioritized. Development actors prioritize women for livelihoods projects in the areas with high number of IDPs and in the areas along the contact line. 	 Advocate on local level in the areas with high number of IDPs, as well as communities along the contact line, for the need to establish shelters for GBV survivors and develop local referral mechanisms for intersectoral response to GBV; Advocate for introduction of changes into the Criminal Code to align it with international standards and practice and to ensure accountability for sexual violence. Advocate with development actors for prioritizing women for capacity building and livelihoods projects in the areas with high number of IDPs and in the area along the contact line. 	UNFPA, OHCHR, La Strada, Ukrainian Foundation for Public Health
Objective 2 People of concern benefit from full and non-discriminatory access to quality essential services and enjoyment of their rights, with particular attention to the most vulnerable.	Psychosocial Distress	IDPs and affected population in need of assistance have timely access to MHPSS services	 Experience of loss, pain, disruption and violence increases vulnerability of developing mental health and psychosocial problems. Armed conlict and displacement lead to psychological and social stress on an individual, family, community level. Addressing the needs in mental health and psychosocial support increases the resilience of conflict affected population. 	 Mental Health and Psychosocial Support are integrated into state policies, and IDPs and conflict affected people are included as one of the target groups for assistance by state service providers; Increased awareness of psychosocial needs for the conflict-affected and displaced population among service providers. Minimisation of stigma associated with psychosocial distress. 	 Raise awareness of service providers about PSS needs of IDPs and the conflict-affected popoulation Capacity building of relevant state agencies on Mental Health and Psychosocial Support, including the Ministry of Health, the Ministry of Social Policy, the Ministry of Temporary Occupied Territories and IDPs and local authorities, as well as relevant social and health care staff 	IMC, PIN, UNICEF, Terres des Hommes, ACF
Objective 1 To strengthen protection for people of concern, including prevention and mitigation of rights' violations. Objective 2 People of concern benefit from full and non-discriminatory access to quality essential services and enjoyment of their rights, with particular attention to the most vulnerable.	Conflict affected children	Conflict-affected children are protected from the impact of the conflict (shelling, mine contamination, displacement), and are provided assistance in line with their needs while their protective environment is strengthened.	 The conflict has severely weakened the protective environment around children in Ukraine, making them further vulnerable to violence, abuse, exploitation and neglect. Hundreds of daily ceasefire violations put children's physical safety and psychological well-being at risk often leaving them with life-long disabilities. Instances of child abuse and neglect are increasing in the conflict-affected families along the contact line, as parents are under emotional and psychological stress due to the conflict and monetary poverty. 	 A system of child protection monitoring, as well as effective referral and assistance mechanisms, are established in communities along the contact line; Settlements within the 5 km zone along the contact line that suffer continued threat of conflict and economic devastation have functioning safe spaces for children. Children with disabilities resulting from the conflict have access to necessary medical, psycho-social and rehabilitation assistance and have access to formal education. 	 Advocate with the MoSP for the need to build capacity of the social workers to respond to conflict-related protection risks faced by children and provide assistance to children and caregivers to address them. Support the local authorities in the areas along the contact line affected by violations of ceasefire in establishing safe spaces for children. Monitor child protection situation in the areas along the contact line to assess changes in protection environment. Advocate with the development actors to prioritize support to the conflict-affected communities to strengthen child protection support systems at the local level. 	UNICEF, Save the Children, DRC, SOS Children's Villages
Objective 3 Improve social cohesion and the resilience of conflict-affected people; support people of concern in identifying durable solutions.	Lack of social cohesion and peaceful coexistence in the area of displacement.	the state authorities at national	 IDPs must have access to social services, entitelments and livelihoods opportunities on an equal basis with other citizens of Ukraine. IDPs are citizens of Ukraine and the fact that an individual was displaced does not confer particular status, but rather calls for particular types of assistance to address protection risks associated with displacement. It is important to facilitate and maintain links between population residing in NGCA and in GCA for future peacebuilding and reconciliation process, as well as for IDPs considering voluntary return as a preferred durable solution. 	 IDPs are able to participate in the lives of local communities without discrimination on par with the local population, including by exercising voting rights, having access to services and documentation. People residing in NGCA have access to information about developments in GCA, can easily travel and access services, entitlements and property in GCA. 	 Strengthen cooperation with development actors working on social cohesion. Provide technical guidance for development actors on mainstreaming protection in their activities. Raise awareness of the local authorities on the importance of inclusion of IDPs in the local programs. Facilitate linkages between civil society representatives in NGCA and GCA. Advocate for inclusive policies aimed at people residing in NGCA in terms of freedom of movement, transfer of goods, access to information, services and entitlements in GCA. 	UNHCR, IOM, OHCHR
