FOREWORD

The Government of Uganda had always addressed the needs of internally displaced persons through provision of humanitarian assistance and overseeing their return, resettlement and reintegration through normal sectoral planning.

The need, however, arose over time for standard coordinated multi-sectoral, multi-disciplinary procedures and guides for Government Institutions, Development and Humanitarian Agencies in planning and responding to matters of internal displacement of persons. This Policy is intended to address these needs in a significant and effective manner.

The Policy builds on existing international humanitarian law and human rights instruments and relevant national laws. The Policy will play a significant role in raising awareness of the needs and rights of IDPs, mobilising support within the country and from the development and humanitarian community.

Whereas we cannot stop the occurrence of natural hazards and some of the human-induced crises, with collective effort and proper planning, we can reduce their chances of turning into disasters and minimize their impact on the affected population and the economy.

I wish to thank all of those who contributed to the preparation of this policy and urge all those institutions involved in protection and the provision of assistance to the IDPs to adhere to this policy. In so doing we shall go a long way in achieving the much needed improvement in the status and treatment of IDPs.

Moses Ali Lt Gen

Lt. Gen (Rtd) Moses Ali

First Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for Disaster Preparedness and Refugees

PREAMBLE

This Policy establishes the principles which will serve as a guide to Government institutions, humanitarian and development agencies while providing assistance and protection to Internally Displaced Persons in Uganda. The Policy specifies the roles and responsibilities of Government institutions, humanitarian and development agencies, donors and the displaced community and other stakeholders.

Fundamental to this Policy is the recognition that Internally Displaced Persons shall enjoy, in full equality, the same rights and freedoms under the Constitution and all other laws, as do all other persons in Uganda. They shall not be discriminated against in the fulfilment of any rights and freedoms on the grounds that they are internally displaced.

Internally Displaced Persons have the right to request and receive protection and humanitarian assistance from national and district authorities

In this policy, Government commits itself to:

- i. Protecting its citizens against arbitrary displacement
- ii. Promoting the search for durable solutions to causes of displacement
- iii. Facilitating the voluntary return, resettlement, integration and re-integration of the IDPs
- iv. Ensuring that every person, internally displaced or otherwise receives information relating to this Policy

BACKGROUND

Large communities in Uganda have, at one time or the other been forced or obliged to flee their homes or places of habitual residence as a result of or in order to avoid the effects of either natural or human-induced disasters.

From 1979 to the present day (2004), about 7 million people i.e. over 1/3 of Uganda's population have been affected by civil conflict and cattle rustling.

The dictatorial rule of Idi Amin (1971-79) and the subsequent liberation war of 1979, left an estimated 500,000 people dead and hundreds of thousands were either internally displaced or forced into exile. The internally displaced persons ended up living in camps where protection of their human rights, provision of food, medical and social services were grossly inadequate.

From 1981 to 1985 the war in the Luweero Triangle caused significant displacement and loss of lives.

The Uganda People's Army (UPA) insurgency in the North-East followed from 1987 causing immense human suffering especially in Soroti and Kumi Districts, leaving an estimated 300,000 people displaced and many others dead.

In the districts of Gulu, Kitgum and Pader hundreds of thousands of people have been internally displaced for many years as a result of the "Holy Spirit Movement" rebel group of Alice Lakwena and then later the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) of Joseph Kony. In August 2003, LRA incursions into Teso and the Lango sub-regions caused massive displacements, raising the figure to over 1,600, 000 people.

The Allied Democratic Forces (ADF) insurgency (1994-2001) caused the death of hundreds of people and internal displacement of 150,000 others in the Rwenzori region.

For over a long period of time, Karamajong cattle rustling has caused internal displacement within Karamoja, and from 1994 to date (2004) in the neighbouring districts of Katakwi (88,623 people) and Pader (about 23,000 people).

Natural disasters in particular, landslides and floods have displaced large numbers of people at the slopes of Mt. Elgon, Rwenzori Mountains, the hills of Kigezi, Ankole, the Semliki valley and along the basin of River Nile in the North of the Country.

The trend above shows that at any one time, a number of Ugandans will be in a state of internal displacement and hence the need for this Policy.

CHAPTER FOUR

4.1 National and International Humanitarian and Development Agencies

The Uganda Red Cross Society (URCS), UN Agencies, Humanitarian and Development Partners, other voluntary organizations and professional bodies make valuable contributions to all aspects of internal displacement.

Their activities are in most cases effective at the district and local (community) levels through the promotion of public awareness of the problems of the IDPs, and through support aimed at developing self-help and self-reliance.

The URCS has a special role to play in Internally Displaced Persons settlements as an auxiliary to Governmental capability. Unlike other NGOs, the URCS is a creation by an Act of Parliament (The Red Cross Act No. 23 of 1964). Its roles and responsibilities are defined by law, therefore, making it a very reliable institution in providing support services to the Internally Displaced.

Objective

Provide support services to Internally Displaced Persons and the local communities.

Strategies

Cooperation between organizations, international and local is vital for the mobilization of technical and financial assistance needed for the effective implementation of responses to internal displacement.

The URCS and NGOs are a vital force in public education and awareness, especially at the grassroots levels.

URCS, Agencies of the United Nations and various NGOs have organized and well trained personnel with the ability to supplement Government in the following areas amongst others:

- i. Support the management and coordination of providing shelter, feeding, supplemental health services, emergency first aid services, bulk distribution of emergency relief items and supportive counseling to the victims and their families;
- ii. Establish and operate mass care shelters and feeding facilities for victims requiring these services;
- iii. Provide casualty and illness information to Government and the appropriate International Organizations.

4.1.1 The OPM/DDP shall:

- i. Be responsible for monitoring, supervising and evaluating activities of sectoral lead agencies, national and international humanitarian and development agencies in all matters related to management of Internal Displacement.
- ii. Ensure that the SPHERE minimum standards in disaster response are adhered to by all humanitarian actors.

4.1.2 The OPM/DDP shall:

- i. Ensure the drawing up of Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) with all Humanitarian and Development

Agencies and NGOs wishing to/or providing humanitarian assistance to Internally Displaced Persons in Uganda after the Agency or NGO having fulfilled the requirements of the Non-Governmental Organisations Registration Statute, 1989.

- ii. All existing Humanitarian and Development Agencies and NGOs shall ensure that they draw MoUs with the OPM/DDP to continue providing humanitarian assistance to Internally Displaced Persons in Uganda after this policy comes into force. However, to ensure the continuity of ongoing assistance programs, organizations already working with the internally displaced will continue to provide their services pending the development, review and signing of their MoUs.
- iii. The OPM/DDP shall when the need arises and after consultation with relevant organs of Government request a humanitarian, development agencies or an NGO to withdraw its humanitarian assistance/activities from a particular part of the country or Uganda when its activities are found to be inconsistent with this policy and other laws of Uganda.
- iv. Humanitarian and development agencies wishing to/or providing humanitarian assistance to Internally Displaced Persons in Uganda shall have to declare the sources and amounts of funds/resources they are bringing into the country to the OPM/DDP, which in turn shall inform the Ministry of Finance, Planning and Economic Development.
- v. Humanitarian and development agencies or NGOs wishing to/or providing humanitarian assistance to Internally Displaced Persons in Uganda shall have to submit copies of their programmes, and regular activity plans to the OPM/DDP.

- vi. For purposes of coordination and fair distribution of assistance, the OPM/DDP shall in consultation with the relevant organs of Government, humanitarian and development agencies wishing to/or providing humanitarian assistance to the internally displaced map out areas of operation for each agency depending on the specialty and the IDP needs identified while also taking into consideration the specific needs assessment of each individual agency.
- vii. Authorities concerned shall grant and facilitate passage of humanitarian assistance and grant persons engaged in the provision of such assistance rapid and unimpeded access to the internally displaced.

4.2 Inter-Governmental Organizations and the Donor Community

- i. Whereas Government is, first and foremost, responsible for implementation of this Policy, it may, depending on the magnitude of the displacement, seek support from United Nations Agencies, Bilateral and Multilateral Aid Missions, International Organisations, and International NGOs.
- ii. United Nations agencies, Bilateral and Multilateral Aid Missions, International Organisations, and International NGOs have always provided technical and financial support to the Government's disaster management machinery and are encouraged to work closely with local authorities and non-governmental organizations to build local capacity.

- iii. Such assistance as much as possible should be channeled through the relevant line Ministry of Government and where there is no clear line Ministry such as for non-food items, through the OPM/DDP or the Local Government(s)/communities in need.
- iv. Channeling of assistance through local humanitarian and development agencies and the private sector is strongly encouraged in order to create and enhance local capacities and expertise.
- v. The Department of Disaster Preparedness and Refugees through the IATC and in collaboration with donor and UN agencies, shall prepare a policy implementation strategic plan for this policy, identifying needs and existing resources, including those which could be made available through re-adjustment of existing Country Programmes of each agency, resources available under Government Programmes, the United Nations Consolidated Inter-Agency Appeal and through other programmes.

CHAPTER FIVE

5.1 ADVOCACIES AND PUBLIC INFORMATION

An important aspect in a successful management of an IDP situation is the capacity to inform people of the situation and properly communicate with all relevant organisations. The press, radio and television have an important role to play in giving an insight of the magnitude of the IDP problem.

The Ministry of Information shall ensure free broadcast of information relating to assistance to IDPs in all mass media under its control.

Government, humanitarian and development agencies and donors should provide and maintain long distance high frequency radio support to link the DPWOs and or the DDPC to the OPM/DDP, to facilitate quick communication between the IDPs, the District and the Government.

The OPM/DDPR will act as a repository and conduit of all information relating to internal displacement and Internally Displaced Persons in Uganda and play a primary role in advocacy and public information.

The OPM/DDPR shall collaborate with Government institutions and humanitarian and development agencies in advocating on behalf of internally displaced people in order to alleviate their suffering and hasten their return or resettlement. This will be done by:

- i. Ensuring that the Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement and this Policy are translated into appropriate local languages and that they are disseminated as widely as possible via radio broadcasts and all other available mass media.
- ii. Sharing information on internal displacement situations in Uganda at national and international fora; and
- iii. Making recommendations as necessary.

The OPM/DDPR shall encourage cooperation among Government Institutions and other role players to make the requisite information available.
