

Committee against Torture

C. Principal subjects of concern and recommendations

Pending follow-up issues from the previous reporting cycle

6. While noting the information provided by the State party on 31 August 2012 on the implementation of the recommendations contained in paragraphs 9, 14 and 15 (b) and (c) of the Committee's concluding observations on the initial report of Turkmenistan (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1), which called on the State party to ensure the provision, in practice, of safeguards against torture; provide access for international monitoring bodies, either governmental or non-governmental, to all detention facilities; permit visits to the country by the Special Rapporteur on torture and the Working Group on Arbitrary Detention; inform the relatives of individuals detained incommunicado of their fate and whereabouts, and facilitate family visits; and ensure prompt, impartial and thorough investigations into all outstanding cases of alleged disappearances, the Committee regrets that the State party has not implemented its recommendations.

Impunity for acts of torture and ill-treatment

7. The Committee is seriously concerned at consistent allegations of widespread torture and ill-treatment, including severe beatings, of persons deprived of their liberty, especially at the moment of apprehension and during pretrial detention, mainly in order to extract confessions. It is also gravely concerned at continued reports about impunity for acts of torture since no cases of torture have been recorded or examined by the State party's courts during both the previous and current reporting periods. The Committee regrets the State party's failure to provide information to the Committee indicating that it has effectively investigated a number of widely publicized reports of torture alleged to have taken place during the period under review (arts. 2, 4, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16).

8. The Committee reiterates its previous recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 6) that the State party should take immediate and effective measures to prevent acts of torture and ill-treatment throughout the country as well as vigorous steps to eliminate impunity for alleged perpetrators of such acts. In addition, the State party should:

(a) Ensure that the President issues a public statement affirming unambiguously that torture will not be tolerated;

(b) Announce that investigations and prosecutions will be carried out promptly against direct perpetrators of torture and those with command responsibility in all cases and issue a warning that anyone committing acts of torture or otherwise complicit or acquiescent in torture will be held personally responsible before the law and will be subject to criminal prosecution and appropriate penalties;

(c) Ensure that all reports of torture and ill-treatment by public officials, including the police and prison staff, are investigated promptly, effectively and impartially by an independent mechanism with no institutional or hierarchical connection between the investigators and the alleged perpetrators;

(d) Ensure that impartial investigations are opened promptly into allegations of torture mentioned during the review of the State party, including the alleged beating of five prisoners at the Seydi labour camp in February 2015, the alleged torture in detention of Bahram Hemdemov, a Jehovah's Witness, in May 2015; the arrest, severe beating, and involuntary detention in a drug rehabilitation centre of Mansur Masharipov, a Jehovah's Witness, in July 2014; and the alleged torture of 19 individuals suspected of connections with the Islamic civic movement Hizmet at the pre-trial detention facility in Anau in September 2016;

(e) Ensure that all persons under investigation for having committed acts of torture or ill-treatment are immediately suspended from their duties and remain so throughout the investigation;

(f) Bring the perpetrators of acts of torture and ill-treatment to justice and, when they are convicted, impose appropriate sentences; and provide proper compensation to victims of torture;

(g) Ensure that defendants and their lawyers are able to obtain video and audio records of interrogations at no cost to the defendant and that they may be used as evidence in court.

Incommunicado detention and enforced disappearances

9. The Committee remains concerned at continued reports that an estimated 90 persons are held by the State party in long-term incommunicado detention, a practice that amounts to enforced disappearance and violates the Convention. It is particularly concerned at the State party's failure to inform the Committee of the whereabouts of Boris and Konstantin Shikhmuradov, Batyr Berdyev and Rustam Dzhumayev, and a number of other persons who were convicted in connection with the assassination attempt on the former President in November 2002. (arts. 2, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16)

10. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 15) that the State party should:

(a) Put an end to incommunicado detention and imprisonment and ensure that all persons held incommunicado are released or are allowed to receive visits from their family members and lawyers;

(b) As a matter of priority, inform the Committee of the fate and whereabouts of all persons convicted and imprisoned for allegedly attempting to assassinate the former President;

(c) Take the necessary measures to ensure prompt, impartial and thorough investigations into all outstanding cases of alleged disappearances and prosecute those responsible, notify the relatives of the victims of the outcomes of such investigations and prosecutions, and provide remedy, as appropriate.

Arbitrary arrests, imprisonment and alleged torture and ill-treatment of human rights defenders and journalists

11. The Committee remains concerned at numerous and consistent allegations of serious acts of intimidation, reprisals, threats and arbitrary arrests and imprisonment of human rights defenders, journalists and their relatives in retaliation for their work, as well as numerous reports that such persons have been subjected to torture and ill-treatment in detention. It is particularly concerned at the State party's failure to conduct a criminal investigation into reports that Mr. Altymurad Annamuradov, the brother of journalist Chary Annamuradov, was abducted and brutally beaten in retaliation for his brother's work, leading to his death on September 4, 2016. While noting the State party's comment that Mr. Annamuradov died at home of natural causes, the Committee is seriously concerned at the lack of investigation into his case, particularly given that three of Mr. Chary Annamuradov's brothers had previously died under suspicious circumstances following his departure from the country in 1999. The Committee is also concerned by the State party's failure to release activists Gulgeldy Annaniyazov, Annakurban Amanklychev and Sapardurdy Khajiev and journalist Saparmamed Nepeskuliev from detention, pursuant to the decisions of the UN Working Group on Arbitrary Detention (A/HRC/WGAD/2013, A/HRC/16/47 and A/HRC/WGAD/2015). The Committee is concerned at reports that harassment of journalists continues, and notes with concern information about the harassment of Soltana Achilova (arts. 2, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16).

12. The Committee welcomes the verbal assurances provided by the representative of the State party at the Committee's 59th session that persons who have provided information to and cooperated with the Committee will not be intimidated, threatened or face any reprisals by the Government of Turkmenistan, in light of article 13 of the Convention. The State party should:

(a) Ensure that human rights defenders and journalists are able to conduct their work and activities freely in the State party;

(b) Release from detention human rights defenders and journalists who are imprisoned and in detention in retaliation for their work;

(c) Investigate promptly, thoroughly and impartially all allegations of harassment, arbitrary arrest, torture or ill-treatment of human rights defenders and journalists, including those cited above involving Altymurad Annamuradov, Gulgeldy Annaniyazov, Saparmamed Nepeskuliev and Soltan Achilova, ensure their access to legal counsel, prosecute and punish appropriately those found guilty and provide redress to the victims.

Deaths in custody

13. The Committee remains deeply concerned at reports of deaths in custody due to torture, and the State party's failure to ensure independent forensic examinations of such deaths. It is particularly concerned at the State party's failure to conduct a criminal investigation into the death in custody of journalist Ogulsapar Muradova in September 2006. The Committee notes the delegation's explanation that the cause of her death was determined to be suicide by hanging, but expresses concern at reports from her relatives that she had complained of ill-treatment in prison, and claims from Deutsche Welle that an autopsy revealed a wound to the back of her head and internal bleeding (arts. 2, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16).

14. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 16) that the State party should:

(a) Ensure independent forensic examinations in all cases of death in custody, provide autopsy reports to the family members of the deceased and, if requested, permit them to commission independent autopsies;

(b) Ensure that the courts in the State party accept the results of independent forensic examinations and autopsies as evidence in criminal and civil cases;

(c) Promptly, thoroughly and impartially investigate all incidents of death in custody, make the results of those investigations available to the public, prosecute those responsible for violations of the Convention resulting in such deaths and punish them accordingly, if convicted;

(d) Provide the Committee with data on all deaths in custody, disaggregated by the facility in which the deceased was detained, the age and sex of the victim, and the outcome of the inquiry into the deaths in custody, and on any redress provided to relatives;

(e) Inform the Committee of any investigation undertaken during the period under review into deaths alleged to be the result of torture, ill-treatment or wilful negligence,

(f) Review the case of death in custody of Ms. Ogulsapar Muradova and ensure that a thorough investigation is conducted into allegations that autopsy results indicate that she may have died as a result of torture in detention.

National human rights institution

15. The Committee is concerned that the Act on the Commissioner for Human Rights (Ombudsman) has not been adopted by the Mejlis to date (art. 2)

16. The Committee reiterates the recommendation contained in its previous concluding observations (CAT/C/TKM/1, para. 12) that the State party proceed with the establishment of a genuinely independent national human rights institution, in accordance with the Paris Principles. The Commissioner on Human Rights (Ombudsman) should have the competence to hear and consider complaints and petitions concerning individual situations, to monitor detention facilities, and to make the results of its investigations public. The State party should ensure the implementation of the institution's recommendations with respect to awards of redress to victims and the prosecution of perpetrators, as well as the provision of adequate resources for its operation. The Committee further recommends that the State party make public the draft Act on the Commissioner for Human Rights in order to facilitate comments and inputs.

Independent complaints mechanism

17. The Committee is deeply concerned at the information provided by the State party that it received no complaints of torture during the reporting period, and correspondingly, that no officials have been prosecuted for torture during the reporting period (arts. 2, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16)

18. The Committee reiterates the recommendation contained in its previous concluding observations (CAT/C/TKM/1, para. 11) and urges the State party to:

(a) Establish an independent and effective complaints mechanism for all places of detention;

(b) Facilitate the submission of complaints by victims of torture and ill-treatment, including by obtaining medical evidence in support of their allegations;

(c) Comply with article 8 of the Penalties Enforcement Code and facilitate the submission by convicted prisoners of proposals, statements and complaints to all the instances that the article provides for, namely, the administration of the penal institution in which they are being held; its supervisory body and other authorities; the courts; the procuratorial authorities, civil society organizations, and – if all domestic remedies have been exhausted – to international organizations; and provide the Committee with information on the number and how such submissions are made in practice;

(d) Ensure in practice that complainants in all places of detention are protected against any ill-treatment or intimidation as a consequence of their complaint or any evidence given;

(e) Ensure that all reports of excessive use of force by law enforcement and prison staff are investigated promptly, effectively and impartially by an independent mechanism with no institutional or hierarchical connection between the investigators and the alleged perpetrators, and ensure that all persons under investigation for having committed acts of torture or ill-treatment are immediately suspended from their duties and remain so throughout the investigation, while ensuring that the principle of presumption of innocence is observed; punish those convicted and provide redress to victims.

Monitoring of places of detention

19. The Committee remains concerned that the State party does not permit independent non-governmental organizations, particularly the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), to monitor all detention facilities. It is also concerned that the State party has not extended invitations to United Nations special procedures mandate holders who have requested to visit the country, particularly the Special Rapporteur on torture and the Working Group on Arbitrary Detention. The Committee is also concerned that the Oversight Commission of the Penal Corrections Department, which monitors places of detention in the State party, is part of the Ministry of Internal Affairs and therefore lacks independence. It is also concerned at the absence of an independent oversight body to carry out independent inspections of all places of detention (arts. 2, 11 and 16).

20. The Committee reiterates the recommendation contained in its previous concluding observations (CAT/C/TKM/1, para. 14) and urges the State party to:

(a) Establish a national system that independently, effectively and regularly monitors and inspects all places of detention, without prior notice and is able to meet in private with detainees and receive complaints;

(b) Grant access to independent organizations, in particular the ICRC, to all detention facilities in the country and expedite the signing of a memorandum of understanding with the ICRC;

(c) Strengthen cooperation with the United Nations human rights mechanisms by permitting visits as soon as possible by special procedures mandate holders who have requested them, in particular the Special Rapporteur on torture and the Working Group on Arbitrary detention, in conformity with the terms of reference for fact-finding missions by special rapporteurs and special representatives (E/CN.4/1998/45).

(d) Consider ratifying the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture.

Fundamental legal safeguards

21. The Committee is concerned that persons deprived of their liberty do not enjoy all fundamental legal safeguards against torture from the moment of their apprehension in practice (arts. 2, 11 and 16). The Committee is further concerned that numerous persons are held in custody beyond the 48-hour period and that the State party's law provides that suspects may be held in detention without being presented before a judge during the investigation of a criminal case for up to 6 months, and even longer with authorization from the Procurator General. (arts. 2, 11 and 16).

22. The State party should ensure that fundamental legal safeguards against torture are guaranteed in practice by appropriate means of regulation and not merely by law to all detained persons, including remand prisoners, from the outset of their deprivation of liberty, according to international standards. The State party should monitor the provision of these safeguards to persons deprived of their liberty and should ensure that any official who fails to provide them in practice is subjected to disciplinary or other appropriate punishment. Such rights include the right to:

(a) Be promptly informed, in a language that they understand, of their rights, the reasons for arrest and the charges against them, both orally and in writing and to sign a paper confirming that they have understood the information provided to them;

(b) Have access to a medical examination by an independent doctor within 24 hours of their arrival in a place of detention;

(c) Have prompt and confidential access to a qualified and independent lawyer, or to free legal aid when needed, from the time of their apprehension;

(d) Promptly contact a family member or any other person of their own choice about their detention immediately after apprehension;

(e) Be promptly brought before a competent, independent and impartial court within a maximum of 48 hours of their apprehension;

(f) Have the legality of their detention challenged through an habeas corpus procedure and to have their detention recorded in a register at the place of detention and in a central register of persons deprived of their liberty, which their lawyers and family members can access.

Conditions of detention in prisons

23. The Committee is concerned at the use of solitary confinement and the reduced regime for persons placed in solitary confinement which has resulted in mental health problems and suicides. Additionally, while noting the renovations of existing facilities and building of new ones during the period under review, the Committee remains deeply concerned at reports that inadequate material and hygienic conditions in places of deprivation of liberty, including continued severe overcrowding, inadequate bathing and toilet facilities, lack of access to adequate quantity and quality of food, natural and artificial lighting, proper ventilation, health care, lack of outdoor activities and unnecessary restrictions on family visits have continued during the period under review. The Committee is particularly concerned by reports that numerous prisoners may have died as a result of conditions at Ovadan-Depe prison. The Committee is also concerned at reports that prisoners with diseases such as active and multidrug-resistant tuberculosis continue to be held together with healthy prisoners, which results in a high infection, morbidity and mortality rate among detainees. While noting the improvements made during the period under review in specialized facilities, the Committee is concerned at reports that prisoners with active tuberculosis are referred to the MR/K-15 hospital only when they are close to death or through bribing the relevant officials. The Committee is also concerned that the supervision of conditions of detention in detention facilities is not within the remit of judicial bodies (arts. 2, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16).

24. The Committee reiterates the recommendation contained in its previous concluding observations (CAT/C/TKM/1, para. 19) that the State party should:

(a) Ensure that solitary confinement remains an exceptional measure of limited duration;

(b) Intensify further its efforts to bring the conditions of detention in places of deprivation of liberty into line with the Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners (the Nelson Mandela Rules);

(c) Reduce further prison overcrowding in all places of detention, including by renovating existing and building new facilities in accordance with international standards and implementing amended legislation allowing for alternatives to detention, in accordance with the United Nations Standard Minimum Rules for Non-custodial Measures (the Tokyo Rules);

(d) Ensure that detainees are provided with adequate material and hygienic conditions, including bathing and toilet facilities, adequate quantity and quality of food, space per prisoner, natural and artificial lighting, proper ventilation, health care, outdoor activities and family visits;

(e) Separate healthy prisoners from those suffering from active tuberculosis in all detention facilities and implement the National Tuberculosis Prevention and Control Programme and the short-course directly observed treatment (DOTs) programme foreseen by it; and provide specialized medical care at the MR/K-15 and other medical facilities to prisoners suffering from active and multidrug-resistant tuberculosis and equip them with proper ventilation and Dezar devices;

(f) Amend legislation in order to allow for judicial oversight of all places of detention and allow independent, monitoring bodies to carry out regular unannounced visits to all places of detention and meet in private with detained persons.

Violence in prison, including rape and sexual violence

25. The Committee remains concerned at continued reports of physical abuse and psychological pressure against detainees by prison staff, including ill-treatment, collective punishment as well as sexual violence and rape, which have resulted in several suicides. It is particularly concerned at the absence of information on the reported rape of female detainees by public officials in 2007 in Ashgabat and in 2009 at the women's prison in Dashoguz. (arts. 2, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16).

26. The Committee reiterates the recommendation contained in its previous concluding observations (CAT/C/TKM/1, para. 18) that the State party should:

(a) Draw up a comprehensive plan to address the issue of violence, including sexual violence and rape, by inmates and prison staff in all detention facilities, including the women's prison colony in Dashoguz;

(b) Ensure effective investigations of all cases of violence, including sexual violence and rape and inform the Committee about the outcome of investigations into the rape of female detainees by public officials in 2007 in Ashgabat and at the Dashoguz women's prison in 2009;

(c) Coordinate the judicial supervision of conditions of detention between competent organs and ensure thorough investigations of all allegations of torture and ill-treatment committed in detention facilities; punish the perpetrators if found guilty and provide medical and psychological rehabilitation to the victims.

Coerced confessions

27. Despite the existing national legislation, the Committee remains concerned at numerous reports of continued widespread use of forced confessions as evidence in courts and on the absence of information on investigations into claims of torture by judges and lack of any cases in which officials may have been prosecuted and punished for extracting confessions (arts. 2, 12, 13, 14,15 and 16)

28. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 20) that evidence obtained through any form of coercion or torture is inadmissible in all judicial proceedings, in line with article 15 of the Convention. Judges should always investigate allegations of torture by defendants. The judiciary should review cases of convictions based solely on confessions, since many may have been based on evidence obtained through torture and ill-treatment. The State party should conduct prompt and impartial investigations into such cases, take appropriate remedial measures and provide information on whether any officials have been prosecuted and punished for extracting such confessions.

Independence of the judiciary

29. While noting the adoption on 8 November 2014 of the revised Courts Act and the Revised Act on Enforcement Proceedings and the Status of Court Appointed Officers, the Committee remains concerned that despite the changes in national legislation during the period under review, judges continue to be appointed and dismissed solely by the President, which affects the independence of the judiciary in cases which involve violations of the Convention. It is concerned with the tenure in office of judges who are appointed for renewable five-year terms (arts. 2 and 13).

30. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 10) that the State party take all necessary measures to establish and ensure the independence of the judiciary, including by guaranteeing their tenure in office and severing administrative and other ties with the Executive Office, in conformity with international standards, notably the Basic Principles on the Independence of the Judiciary.

Violence against women, including domestic and sexual violence

31. While commending the State party's zero-tolerance policy on violence against women and the adoption of the National Plan of Action for Gender Equality in Turkmenistan for 2015-2020, the Committee is concerned that domestic violence is not a separate crime in the Criminal Code. It is also concerned at the wide prevalence of violence against women in the State party, including in penitentiary facilities, and at the low number of complaints, investigations and prosecutions in this regard (arts. 2, 12, 13, 14 and 16).

32. The Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Define and introduce domestic violence, including sexual violence and marital rape, as specific criminal offences in its Criminal Code, with appropriate sanctions and consider drawing up a national plan of action to reduce violence against women;

(b) Ensure the effective implementation of the National Plan of Action for Gender Equality in Turkmenistan for 2015-2020 and regularly assess its results;

(c) Establish an effective and independent complaints mechanism for victims of domestic violence;

(d) Ensure that all allegations of violence against women, including domestic and sexual violence, are registered by the police and that all allegations of violence are promptly, impartially and effectively investigated and the perpetrators prosecuted and punished;

(e) Ensure that victims of domestic violence benefit from protection, including restraining orders, and have access to medical and legal services, including counselling, redress and rehabilitation as well as to safe and adequately funded shelters throughout the country;

(f) Provide mandatory training for police and other law enforcement officials, social workers, lawyers, prosecutors and judges on the vulnerabilities of victims of gender-based and domestic violence.

Non-refoulement

33. While welcoming the adoption by the State party of legislation establishing procedures for recognition and protection of the rights of refugees, and noting the information provided by the State party that it granted Turkmen citizenship by presidential decree to a number of stateless persons and migrants during the reporting period, the Committee is concerned by reports it has received that the State party did not register any new asylum-seekers during the reporting period and regrets that the State party did not provide information it requested on the number of asylum requests considered by its authorities during the reporting period and the outcome of those requests (art. 3).

34. The Committee recommends that the State party adopt the following measures in order to ensure that the prohibition against refoulement is respected in practice:

(a) Establish fair and efficient asylum and referral procedures which are accessible at all border points, including at international airports and transit zones

(b) Ensure that asylum-seekers, including detainees, have access to independent, qualified and free legal advice and representation, in order to ensure that their protection needs are duly recognized and refoulement is prevented;

(c) Establish a system for collecting and provide the following data to the Committee and other relevant observers, for 2012 to the present:

- i. The number of asylum applications received;
- ii. The number of foreigners who have been expelled, returned or otherwise refused entry at the borders, and to which countries;
- iii. The number of foreigners detained in detention facilities;
- iv. The number of individuals whose asylum applications are pending with authorities.

Involuntary placement and medical treatment in psychiatric hospitals and neuropsychological institutions

35. The Committee is concerned that persons with psychosocial disorders and mental disabilities may be placed in psychiatric hospitals and neuropsychological institutions without their consent. It remains concerned at reports that psychiatric hospitals continue to be misused to detain persons for reasons other than medical, including non-violent expression of political views (arts. 2, 11, 12, 13 and 16).

36. The Committee reiterates the recommendation contained in its previous concluding observations (CAT/C/TKM/1, para. 17) that the State party:

(a) Take measures to ensure that no one is involuntarily placed in psychiatric hospitals and neuropsychological institutions for reasons other than medical;

(b) Release persons who have been placed forcibly in psychiatric hospitals for reasons other than medical and take appropriate measures to remedy the situation;

(c) Allow access to psychiatric hospitals and neuropsychological institutions to monitors and monitoring mechanisms independent of the health authorities; and publish a brochure with its procedures and ensure its distribution to patients and families;

(d) Ensure the patient's right to be heard in person by the judge ordering the hospitalization and that the court always seeks the opinion of a psychiatrist who is not attached to the psychiatric institution admitting the patient;

(e) Ensure that hospitalization for medical reasons is decided only upon advice of independent psychiatric experts and that such decisions can be appealed.

Derogations from the absolute prohibition of torture

37. While noting that the State party has adopted amendments to its national legislation that define and specifically criminalize torture, the Committee remains concerned that article 47 of the Constitution continues to stipulate that citizens' rights may be suspended during the imposition of a state of emergency or martial law, and does not clearly indicate that the prohibition of torture is non-derogable. It is also concerned that the Constitution does not clearly prohibit amnesties for torture and enforced disappearance (arts. 2 and 4).

38. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 8) that the State party should:

(a) Ensure that the absolute prohibition against torture is non-derogable, including during states of emergency and martial law, and that acts amounting to torture are not subject to any statute of limitations;

(b) Prohibit the granting of amnesty for the crimes of torture and enforced disappearance, which is incompatible with the Convention against Torture.

Status of the Convention in the domestic legal order

39. While noting that article 6 of the Constitution provides that international human rights treaties ratified and promulgated by Turkmenistan take primacy over national laws, the Committee takes note with concern, however, that the provisions of the Convention have not been invoked directly before national courts (arts. 2, 4, 10, 12 and 13).

40. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 7) that the State party should ensure the full applicability of the provisions of the Convention in its domestic legal order and the practical implementation of article 6 of the Constitution. The State party should provide law-enforcement personnel and members of the judiciary with training on the Convention and its direct applicability so that they are taken into account by national courts.

Follow-up procedure

41. The Committee requests the State party to provide, by 7 December 2017, information on follow-up to the Committee's recommendations on incommunicado detention and on informing the Committee about the fate and whereabouts of all persons held incommunicado or who have been disappeared, on the intimidation, reprisals, threats and arbitrary arrests and imprisonment of human rights defenders, journalists and their relatives in retaliation for their work, and on the establishment of a genuinely independent national human rights institution, in accordance with the Paris Principles (see paras. 10, 12, and 16)). In the same context, the State party is invited to inform the Committee about its plans for implementing within the coming reporting period, some or all of the remaining recommendations in the concluding observations.

Other issues

42. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 26) that the State party consider making the declarations envisaged under articles 21 and 22 of the Convention.

43. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (CAT/C/TKM/CO/1, para. 12) that the State party consider ratifying the Optional Protocol to the Convention.

44. The Committee invites the State party to ratify the core United Nations human rights treaties to which it is not yet party

45. The State party is requested to disseminate widely the report submitted to the Committee and the present concluding observations, in appropriate languages, through official websites, the media and non-governmental organizations.

46. The State party is invited to submit its next periodic report, which will be the third periodic report under article 19 of the Convention, by 7 December 2020. For that purpose, the Committee invites the State party to accept, by 7 December 2017, to report under its simplified reporting procedure, consisting in the transmittal, by the Committee to the State party, of a list of issues prior to the submission of the report. The State party's replies to that list of issues will constitute its third periodic report under article 19 of the Convention.
