

Act to Introduce the Code of Crimes against International Law*
of 26 June 2002

The Federal Parliament has passed the following Act:

Article 1
Code of Crimes against International Law (CCAIL)

Part 1
General provisions

Section 1
Scope of application

This Act shall apply to all criminal offences against international law designated under this Act, to serious criminal offences¹ designated therein even when the offence was committed abroad and bears no relation to Germany.

Section 2
Application of the general law

The general criminal law shall apply to offences pursuant to this Act so far as this Act does not make special provision in sections 1 and 3 to 5.

* Translation Brian Duffett.

¹ In German law the term "serious criminal offence" ("Verbrechen") is used to denote criminal offences ("Straftaten") that are punishable with not less than one year of imprisonment. Mitigating (and aggravating) circumstances - as regulated for instance in section 8 subsection (5) - are to be disregarded in this respect (section 12 German Criminal Code). As a result, all criminal offences in the present Draft Code are "serious criminal offences" ("Verbrechen") with the sole exception of the criminal offences in sections 13 and 14 (see the Explanations: B. Article 1, section 1). Please note that the terminological differentiation between "criminal offences"

Section 3
Acting upon orders

Whoever commits an offence pursuant to Sections 8 to 14 in execution of a military order or of an order comparable in its actual binding effect shall have acted without guilt so far as the perpetrator does not realise that the order is unlawful and so far as it is also not manifestly unlawful.

Section 4
Responsibility of military commanders and other superiors

(1) A military commander or civilian superior who omits to prevent his or her subordinate from committing an offence pursuant to this Act shall be punished in the same way as a perpetrator of the offence committed by that subordinate. Section 13 subsection (2) of the Criminal Code shall not apply in this case.

(2) Any person effectively giving orders or exercising command and control in a unit shall be deemed equivalent to a military commander. Any person effectively exercising command and control in a civil organisation or in an enterprise shall be deemed equivalent to a civilian superior.

Section 5
Non-applicability of statute of limitations

The prosecution of serious criminal offences² pursuant to this Act and the execution of sentences imposed on their account shall not be subject to any statute of limitations.

(“Straftaten”) and “serious criminal offences” (“Verbrechen”) is, for technical reasons, not reflected everywhere in this translation.

² Cf. footnote to section 1.
