Map of the Democratic Republic of the Congo

Introduction

1. This position supersedes and replaces the 2019 UNHCR Position on Returns to North Kivu, South Kivu and Adjacent Areas in the Democratic Republic of the Congo – Update II.<sup>1</sup> The security and human rights situation in North Kivu, South Kivu and Ituri has further deteriorated,<sup>2</sup> affected by escalating armed conflict, inter-ethnic and political violence, dire humanitarian conditions and serious violations of human rights.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>2</sup> “Despite a state of siege that has been in force since 11 months in the provinces of North Kivu and Ituri in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and despite military operations by the Armed Forces of the Democratic Republic of the Congo (Forces armées de la République démocratique du Congo, FARDC), the Uganda People’s Defence Forces (UPDF) and the United Nations Organization Stabilization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUSCO), the security and humanitarian situation in the two provinces deteriorated. [...] In South Kivu, the situation in the Hauts-Plateaux of Mwenga, Uvira and Fizi territories remained of significant concern, with continued cycles of retaliatory clashes between armed groups and attacks against civilians.” UN Security Council, Final Report of the Group of Experts on the Democratic Republic of the Congo, 14 June 2022, S/2022/479, www.ecoi.net/en/file/local/2074508/N2233870.pdf, pp. 2-3. UNHCR documented 48,813 protection-related incidents between January and September 2022 in the DRC. UNHCR, Protection Monitoring, 2022.

2. Armed violence in the eastern provinces of the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) has intensified in recent years as numerous armed groups continue to fight against the Congolese armed forces (FARDC) and the UN Stabilization Mission (MONUSCO) and attack the civilian population; a resurgence of the Mouvement du 23 mars (M23) since November 2021 is further destabilizing the area.<sup>4</sup> In North Kivu, intense fighting between FARDC and M23 forces in Rutshuru territory during 2022, as well as sporadic attacks by the Allied Democratic Forces (ADF), has led to large-scale forced displacement, serious human rights violations and abuses, and increased inter-community tension and hate speech.<sup>5</sup> In South Kivu, cycles of violence have resulted in forced displacement and conflict-related human rights violations and abuses.<sup>6</sup> The conflict in Ituri involving the Lendu and Hema tribes has continued, with attacks by Lendu militias against Hema villagers and displacement camps since November 2021, as well as retaliatory attacks by Hema militia, resulting in further displacement.<sup>7</sup> In response to the violence in North Kivu and Ituri, on 3 May 2021 President Tshisekedi imposed martial law under a state of siege in the two provinces; human rights groups allege that the measure has caused an increase in civilian casualties and human rights violations.<sup>8</sup>
3. The situation has been further complicated by the involvement of regional actors, with Ugandan troops fighting the ADF in the northeast and Burundian troops engaged in operations against the Burundian armed rebel group Résistance pour un Etat de droit au Burundi (RED-Tabara) in South Kivu.<sup>9</sup>

On 20 December 2021, the UN Security Council approved a one-year extension of MONUSCO's mandate, including its armed component which comprises a maximum of 13,500 military personnel.<sup>10</sup> In June 2022, the East African Community decided to send a Kenya-led regional force to assist the DRC in fighting rebel groups in the eastern provinces.<sup>11</sup>

Conflict in North Kivu

5. During 2021, the Armed Conflict Location & Event Data Project (ACLED) documented 1093 incidents of battles, explosions/remote violence and violence against civilians in North Kivu, causing 2,245 fatalities; the areas most affected were Beni (437 incidents), Rutshuru (227) and Masisi (223).<sup>12</sup> Violence continued at a high level into 2022; as of 1 November, there had been 1,046 incidents of battles, explosions/remote violence and violence against civilians, causing 1,767 fatalities.<sup>13</sup> Over 190,000 persons were displaced by conflict in Rutshuru and Nyiragongo territories between March 2022 and 11 July 2022.<sup>14</sup>
6. The ADF, an extremist Islamist group with ties to the Islamic State, continued to conduct deadly attacks in both cities and rural areas in North Kivu and expanded into Irumu territory in southern Ituri.<sup>15</sup> During 2021 and 2022, the ADF began using remote-detonated explosive devices to attack the civilian population in North Kivu.<sup>16</sup> The ADF also attempted to carry out a bombing in Kigali, which was thwarted, and carried out multiple explosive attacks in Uganda, including a November 2021 suicide in one day.<sup>29</sup> Reportedly, Operation Shuja—a joint military operation between Ugandan forces and FARDC in North Kivu—has resulted in the ADF moving operations to Ituri in 2022.<sup>30</sup> The ADF has also “published several videos of beheadings shot in Ituri, the first in June 2021”.<sup>31</sup>

11. Inter-ethnic violence between the Lendu and Hema ethnic groups has continued, primarily in Djugu and Mahagi territories, with both sides forming militias and attacking civilians from the other ethnic group.<sup>32</sup> The Cooperative for the Development of the Congo (CODECO), a loose collection of Lendu militias, has been described as “[o]ne of the deadliest groups in eastern DRC”, and has regularly attacked civilians, including attacks on the Tsuya and Plaine Savo IDP camps which sheltered displaced Hema persons.<sup>33</sup> During 2021, CODECO summarily executed 253 men, 61 women and 95 children.<sup>34</sup> In response to attacks by Lendu militias, the Hema have formed a self-defence group called Zaire or the Front populaire d'autodéfense en Ituri (FPAC), which operates on a smaller scale but which has been accused of executing Lendu civilians.<sup>35</sup> Violence continues to be cyclical, with retaliatory attacks on both sides, and has exacerbated displacement.<sup>36</sup>

Conflict in South Kivu

13. During 2021, ACLED documented 646 incidents of battles, explosions/remote violence and violence against civilians in South Kivu causing 697 fatalities, affecting mostly Uvira, Fizi and Mwenga territories.<sup>40</sup> From 1 January to 1 November 2022, ACLED documented a further 387 incidents of battles, explosions/remote violence and violence against civilians in South Kivu causing 628 fatalities, with the violence concentrated in Uvira and Fizi territories.<sup>41</sup>
14. In the Moyens and Haut Plateaux of Uvira in South Kivu, armed conflict continues with sporadic attacks between Banyamulenge self-defence groups, including the Twirwaneho and Gumino, the FARDC and a loose coalition of Mai-Mai militias, including “the Mai-Mai Yakutumba and its Coalition nationale du peuple pour la souveraineté du Congo (CNPSC), Forces armées “Biloze Bishambuke” (FABB) and Forces des patriotes pour la défense du Congo (FPDC)-Mouvement de libération, commonly known as Mai-Mai Ebuela”.<sup>42</sup> Additionally, Burundian troops and Imbonerakure militia continue to cross the border to fight RED-Tabara, a Burundian rebel group, and have established a “more permanent and significant presence” in Fizi and Uvira territories since December 2021.<sup>43</sup>

Human Rights Situation

15. During 2021, there were 1,016 instances of conflict-related sexual violence, over one-third of which occurred in North Kivu; armed actors and militias use sexual violence as “a tactic to assert control over natural resources and territory” and as “a tool of collective punishment for perceived collaboration with

17. According to human rights organizations, the government has used martial law under the state of siege in North Kivu and Ituri to repress peaceful protests and to arrest, detain and harass critics and opponents.<sup>53</sup>
18. Between January and September 2022, UNHCR has monitored the protection situation in North Kivu, South Kivu and Ituri, and received consistent reports of human rights violations.<sup>54</sup> In North Kivu, UNHCR documented 9,452 protection violations, including 2,468 cases of extortion, 1,356 physical assaults, 929 cases of gender-based violence (GBV), 1,570 cases of abduction and 678 murders.<sup>55</sup> In Ituri, UNHCR documented 12,190 protection violations, including 2,433 cases of looting, 2,287 cases of physical assault and 2,055 cases of extortion.<sup>56</sup> In South Kivu, UNHCR documented a total of 16,571 protection incidents against civilians, which was the highest among the three provinces, including 6,280 cases of extortion, 2,654 physical assaults and 1,665 arbitrary arrests or detentions.<sup>57</sup>

Humanitarian Situation

19. In 2021, the DRC was “one of the most dangerous countries for humanitarian actors”; from January to October 2021, “260 security incidents directly affected humanitarian personnel and goods”, killing six humanitarian workers, with a further 26 injured and 23 kidnapped.<sup>58</sup> In February 2021, an armed group attacked a UN convoy near Goma, killing the visiting Italian ambassador and two others; other kidnappings of humanitarian personnel for ransom have occurred in North Kivu.<sup>59</sup> Between 1 January and 16 June 2022, four humanitarian workers were killed, 10 were kidnapped and 1 was injured.<sup>60</sup>
20. An estimated 27 million people are in need of humanitarian assistance in 2022 in the DRC, including 2.5 million in North Kivu, 1.7 million in South Kivu and 2.9 million in Ituri.<sup>61</sup> In 2021, it was estimated that

<sup>53</sup> “Under martial law orders, military authorities are able to search people’s homes day and night, ban publications and meetings deemed against public order, restrict people’s movements, and arrest anyone for disrupting public order. Civilians are prosecuted before military courts contrary to regional standards. Human Rights Watch has documented more than two dozen cases of arbitrary arrests, intimidation, beatings, and abusive prosecutions in Ituri and North Kivu since September. Security forces killed at least one activist during a protest. Martial law has also strained an already weak judiciary in both provinces. Military courts, which in any event should not be trying cases involving civilian defendants, are unable to cope with the number of cases.” HRW, DR Congo: Martial Law Brings Crackdown in East, 22 March 2022, www.hrw.org/news/2022/03/22/dr-congo-martial-law-brings-crackdown-east. 64 per cent of persons in the DRC lived on less than $2.15 per day.<sup>62</sup> About 26 million persons, or 25 per cent of the population, are food insecure; the eastern provinces are particularly affected with 2.08 million persons acutely food insecure in North Kivu, 1.3 million persons in South Kivu and 2.9 million persons in Ituri.<sup>63</sup>

21. Humanitarian assistance to displaced persons, especially in areas of active conflict, is severely constrained due to insecurity.<sup>64</sup> IDPs and returnees lack access to essential goods, services and family and community networks.<sup>65</sup> An estimated 95 per cent of displaced persons live in host families or improvised dwellings.<sup>66</sup> Many newly displaced persons live in temporary shelters, which “lack the infrastructure to support the new arrivals, exposing them to cholera, malaria and other diseases”.<sup>67</sup> During 2021, 80 per cent of displaced persons were women and children.<sup>68</sup> As many displaced persons settle in host communities, this strains the resources of the surrounding communities and drives up humanitarian needs.<sup>69</sup>
22. As of 2 November 2022, the Humanitarian Response Plan for the Democratic Republic of the Congo was only 39.3 per cent funded.<sup>70</sup>

Internal Displacement, Refugees and Return

23. Displacement in the DRC is almost completely due to conflict and violence.<sup>71</sup> An estimated 5.6 million Congolese are internally displaced, making it the largest internal displacement crisis in Africa, with the vast majority in North Kivu (1.8 million), South Kivu (1.3 million) and Ituri (1.8 million).<sup>72</sup> An estimated 2.6 million persons were displaced between January and November 2021, and cycles of conflict-related displacement have continued into 2022.<sup>73</sup> The state of siege and the resurgence of M23 have shifted areas of conflict and created security gaps, further reducing safe areas for IDPs.<sup>74</sup> Additionally, attacks in Ituri against IDP sites have re-displaced thousands of people since May 2021.<sup>75</sup>
24. In February 2022, UNHCR expressed alarm over an increase of attacks targeting displacement sites and IDPs in North Kivu, South Kivu and Ituri, including the particularly heinous attack against the Plaine Savo displacement camp on 3 February 2022.<sup>76</sup> Between February and June 2022, UNHCR recorded

<sup>71</sup> "In 2022, the Democratic Republic of the Congo had recorded the largest population of internally displaced persons [in the region]. Over 90 per cent had been forced to flee violence and insecurity, including nearly 186,000 people displaced to Rutshuru and Nyiragongo Territories because of the resurgence of M23 since November 2021." UN Security Council, Implementation of the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework for the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Region, 4 October 2022, S/2022/735, www.ecoi.net/en/file/local/2080453/N2261252.pdf, para. 27. "Ongoing violence and conflict are responsible for almost all of the displacement (96.5%). Only 3% of the internal displacement in the DRC is linked to natural disasters. Ituri province is most affected and records the highest number of IDPs in proportion to its population: 1.9 million IDPs out of a total population of 5.7 million. Deadly attacks on civilians are reported on an almost daily basis." ECHO, Democratic Republic of Congo – Insecurity and Displacement, 12 May 2022, <https://reliefweb.int/report/democratic-republic-congo/democratic-republic-congo-insecurity-and-displacement-dg-echo>. "Les principaux facteurs à la base des mouvements de population (déplacements internes et retours) sont les conflits armés et les conflits intercommunautaires et fonciers, particulièrement à l'est de la RDC." Conflict and violence are caused by, inter alia, ongoing tensions between the FARDC and various armed groups, conflicts over arable land, minerals and other natural resources, ethnic-related conflicts and local power struggles. See Global Conflict Tracker, Instability in the Democratic Republic of Congo, 3 August 2022, www.cfr.org/global-conflict-tracker/conflict/violence-democratic-republic-congo; VOA, Explainer: What's Behind the Rising Conflict in Eastern DRC?, 22 July 2022, www.voanews.com/a/explainer-what-s-behind-the-rising-conflict-in-eastern-drc-6670314.html.

<sup>72</sup> As of 31 August 2022, there were 1,782,938 IDPs in Ituri, 1,785,617 IDPs in North Kivu and 1,342,910 IDPs in South Kivu. <sup>73</sup> "At least 170,000 civilians have been displaced, often repeatedly since an escalation of fighting in eastern DRC from November 2021. The latest wave of violence has driven tens of thousands of people from their homes in search of relative safety in different parts of the province, including Goma. at least 715 persons killed by firearm attacks and machete raids in displacement sites or while in the process of returning to their homes after displacement.<sup>77</sup>

25. As of 31 August 2022, the DRC hosted 515,899 refugees and 2,183 asylum-seekers, mostly from the Central African Republic, Rwanda, South Sudan and Burundi.<sup>78</sup>

UNHCR Position on Returns

26. As the situation in North Kivu, South Kivu, Ituri and adjacent areas remains volatile and fluid, UNHCR considers that persons fleeing conflicts in these three provinces and adjacent areas are likely to be in need of international refugee protection in accordance with Article 1(2) of the 1969 OAU Convention.<sup>79</sup> In addition, many persons fleeing the DRC are likely to meet the 1951 Convention criteria for refugee status.<sup>80</sup> UNHCR calls on States to provide access to their territory to persons originating from the affected areas. Depending on the profile of the individual case, exclusion considerations may need to be looked into.<sup>81</sup>
27. Furthermore, UNHCR does not consider it appropriate for States to deny international protection to persons originating from the affected areas based on a presumed internal flight alternative to other parts of the DRC, unless the applicant has strong and pre-existing links to the suggested area of relocation. At a minimum, such links need to comprise an ability to speak the local language, as well as having family or other substantial connections in the area in question. The person concerned must also be able to obtain the necessary documentation to allow them to settle and to move freely in the proposed area of relocation, in order to not be exposed to a risk of arbitrary detention. Any such proposed returns would need to be assessed carefully, taking into account the individual circumstances of the case.<sup>82</sup>
28. The security, rule of law and human rights situation in North Kivu, South Kivu, and Ituri challenges the feasibility of safe and dignified return for any person originating from these provinces and adjacent areas, whether or not the individual is found to be in need of international protection. UNHCR urges States not to forcibly return to the DRC persons originating from these areas until the security and human rights situation has improved sufficiently to permit a safe and dignified return of those determined not to be in need of international protection.

Voluntary Returns

29. Individual Congolese nationals who are outside the country and who are considering return to North Kivu, South Kivu or Ituri in a self-organized manner should be provided with as much detailed information on the situation in their place of origin as possible, to allow them to make a fully informed choice, taking into account the current situation as regards security, governance and livelihoods.
30. UNHCR supports the voluntary repatriation of Congolese refugees from neighbouring countries and the wider region, subject to ensuring that the individual decision is fully informed and voluntary. Prior to extending support for voluntary repatriation to Congolese nationals, UNHCR will verify and confirm the voluntariness of the decision to return to the specific location in the DRC, through individual interviews with all members of returning families.
31. Any assistance provided by UNHCR for return to the DRC aims at supporting individuals who, being fully informed of the situation in their places of origin or an alternative area of their choice, choose voluntarily to return. Any action by UNHCR to support voluntary repatriation, including efforts aimed at sustainable reintegration for returnees and IDPs in the DRC, should not be construed as an assessment by UNHCR of the safety in the DRC for individuals who have sought international protection in countries of asylum. Voluntary repatriation and forced return are processes of a fundamentally different character, engaging different responsibilities on the parts of the various actors involved.
