Dear Sir Nigel

111th session of the Human Rights Committee – List of Issues Prior to Reporting on Poland

I am writing in relation to the meeting of the Task Force for adoption of the List of Issues Prior to Reporting (“LOIPR”) on Poland which will be held during the 111th session of the Human Rights Committee (the “Committee”).

REDRESS would like to draw the Task Force’s attention to one issue which it urges should be included in the LOIPR: the involvement of Polish authorities in the United States’ Rendition, Detention and Interrogation (“RDI”) Programme from 2002 and 2005, and the State party’s continued failure to effectively investigate those allegations, disclose the truth about violations, and provide redress to victims.

This is of particular concern to REDRESS as the representative of Mustafa al-Hawsawi, currently in custody at Guantanamo Bay, and on whose behalf we have filed a complaint to Polish authorities alleging complicity in his extraordinary rendition, secret detention and torture. However, it is an issue which goes beyond Mr al-Hawsawi’s case and to the heart of Poland’s compliance with its obligations under the Covenant.

Poland’s involvement in the RDI programme, and the reports of the existence of a secret detention centre at Stare Kiejkuty, were matters of concern in Poland’s last review in October 2010. In paragraph 15 of the Concluding Observations, the Committee expressed its concern:

that a secret detention centre reportedly existed at Stare Kiejkuty, a military base located near Szymany airport, and that renditions of suspects allegedly took place to and from that airport between 2003 and 2005. It notes with concern that the investigation conducted by the Fifth Department for Organized Crime and Corruption of the Appellate Prosecution Authority in Warsaw has not yet been concluded (arts. 2, 7 and 9).

The Committee recommended that:

The State party should initiate a prompt, thorough, independent and effective inquiry, with full investigative powers to require the attendance of persons and the production of documents, to investigate allegations of the involvement of Polish officials in renditions and secret detentions and to hold those found guilty accountable, including through the criminal justice system. It should make the findings of the investigation public.

Despite this, the investigation continues, largely in secret, with apparently very little progress. Since the Committee's previous review key developments have included:

- in 2011 the Prosecutor leading the investigation, Jerry Mierzewski, was removed from the investigation. It has been reported that sources suggest he was "removed after he refused to follow orders on the running of the investigation from a superior at the appellate prosecutor's office";<sup>1</sup>
- a third individual, Walid Mohammed bin Attash, was granted victim status in the investigation in October 2013;<sup>2</sup>
- in December 2013 the European Court heard the cases of two individuals, Abu Zubaydah and Abd al-Rahim al-Nashiri, concerning Poland's responsibility for their alleged secret detention and torture in Poland; a decision is expected later this year;<sup>3</sup>
- in November 2013 a request for victim status was filed on behalf of a fourth individual, Mustafa al-Hawsawi, alleging that he was held in secret detention in Poland in 2003.<sup>4</sup> The request for victim status was refused in March 2014, and is currently subject to appeal;
- in January 2014 the Washington Post published details of what it alleges was a USD 15 million payment made in early 2003 for Poland's agreement to host the CIA black site at Stare Kiejkuty, and names of a number of those alleged to have been involved.<sup>5</sup>

To date no findings from the investigation have been made public, although one individual has been named in the Polish press as a suspect in criminal proceedings relating to the investigation.

We hope that this information will be useful for the Country Report Task Force in preparing the LOIPR. Please do not hesitate to contact us should you require any further details.

Yours sincerely
