Regional Highlights

- The total South Sudanese refugee population has hit two million with the population in Uganda reaching the one million mark. Of the two million, some 1.2 million are children under the age of 18, representing 63 per cent of the refugee population.
- Over 14,000 new South Sudanese refugees have sought asylum in neighbouring countries in the first half of August. Refugees continue to report conflict, insecurity, forced recruitment, sexual violence, breakdown of basic services and food insecurity as main reasons for flight.
- In Sudan, the influx of South Sudanese refugees into South Darfur remains ongoing, with nearly 10,500 arrivals since 1 July 2017. Sudan has surpassed the total anticipated new arrivals for 2017 by mid-August, with over 180,000 South Sudanese refugees arriving in Sudan in 2017 so far. However the total caseload of refugees who arrived in Sudan post-December 2013 remains below the overall planning figure estimate of 477,000, due to the roll-out of biometric registration of the existing caseload for whom individual registration had not occurred.
- In Uganda, the number of elderly people among the new arrivals continues to increase. Many elderly refugees report that at the beginning of the conflict they had no intention of fleeing their country, but have been forced to flee as the situation deteriorated. Through border monitoring and interviews with arriving refugees, a rise in the number of single male new arrivals was noted at Busia Collection Centre. This can be partly attributed to fighters reportedly deserting armed groups. Infrastructure in Amuru has been damaged by the flooding, including Unyama Bridge, which connects Adjumani district to Palabek Settlement. The damage continues to affect movement of people, goods and services to a number of locations in and around Amuru district. Response efforts are underway.
- In Ethiopia, the first week of August witnessed an increased influx of South Sudanese refugees crossing through Pagak Entry Point following reports of active conflict in South Sudan. The influx has since decreased, however the general security situation remains tense.
- In Central African Republic, the IDP population arriving in Obo, where the South Sudanese refugees are currently hosted, continues to rise and now totals 5,155. UNHCR continues to monitor the situation.
- In the Democratic Republic of Congo, the number of new South Sudanese refugee arrivals is increasing. A total of 944 new arrivals were registered in the first half of August, compared to 1,547 in the full month of July and 1,280 in June.

SUDAN*Latest developments

- Sudan surpassed the total anticipated new arrivals for 2017 by mid-August, with over 180,000 South Sudanese refugees arriving in Sudan in 2017 so far. Despite having surpassed the revised planning figure, the total caseload of refugees who arrived in Sudan post-December 2013 remains below the overall planning figure estimate of 477,000 by the end of 2017. This is due to the roll-out of biometric registration of the existing caseload, which has helped to refine household level estimates to provide a clear picture of individual refugee figures.
- The influx of South Sudanese refugees into South Darfur remains ongoing. Since 1 July, nearly 10,500 refugees have arrived in South Darfur, including 2,900 refugees who arrived between 1-15 August. New arrivals report crossing the border from Western Bahr Ghazal state in South Sudan, fleeing escalating conflict and emergency levels of food insecurity. Additionally, approximately 278 individuals (68 households) have reportedly transited to Buram from El Ferdous, East Darfur to join family members. Based on the current trends, the state Refugee Working Group (RWG) is working with partners to prepare contingency plans for an estimated 30,000 - 40,000 additional refugees who are anticipated to arrive in South Darfur by January 2018.
- The UN High Commissioner for refugees, Mr. Filippo Grandi, visited Sudan 15-16 August to highlight the plight of South Sudanese refugees in Sudan. On 15 August, Mr. Grandi visited with refugees and partners in Al Nimir refugee camp, East Darfur, and met with the donor and humanitarian community and top government officials, including President Omar Al-Bashir. Mr. Grandi congratulated the Government of Sudan on its long history of generosity to refugees and asylum-seekers, as one of the largest refugee hosting countries in the world. He also emphasized the need to scale-up support to host communities in Sudan and expand registration activities. President Bashir committed to maintaining Sudan's open-border policy and supporting refugees in out-of-camp locations.

- Activities in Al Waral camp have been resumed following an incident on 1 August 2017 that led to destruction of several facilities by refugees in the camp and the alleged sexual assault of six Sudanese teachers who were working in the camp. The camp was temporarily closed to UN and INGO partners until 9 August. The incident was triggered by a rumour that a refugee from the camp had died in police custody after being arrested for stealing a bag of sorghum. High level representatives from the Government of Sudan and UNHCR visited Al Waral immediately after the incident to help normalize the situation. UNHCR is working closely with Sudan's authorities to avoid similar events in the future.

Achievements and Impact

- The Jabalain ferry service has resumed and can now be used by partners to access refugee camps in White Nile. The ferry provides access to six refugee camps, including Al Redis I and II, Jouri, Al Kashafa, Um Sangour and Al Waral, as well as transfers from the El Megenis and Umjalala border entry points. The ferry was rehabilitated by UNHCR in 2015 and helps to cut down transit times and address road access issues faced by partners over the rainy season.
- The school year began in Al Nimir refugee camp on 15 August for 1,615 students in grades 1-8, nearly 80 per cent of the school-aged population in the camp. UNHCR worked with the Ministry of Education and the Sudanese Red Crescent Society (SRCS) to enrol students, identify teachers, construct and equip eight temporary classrooms, and to distribute school supplies. Four additional temporary classrooms are planned to reduce the number of students per class.
- Efforts by UNHCR, the Ministry of Health (MOH), WHO, government and NGO health partners have been successful in containing Acute Watery Diarrhea (AWD) outbreaks within refugee populations in East Darfur and South and West Kordofan states. No new cases have been reported in Al Nimir refugee camp so far in August, while four new cases have been reported from Kario. According to MoH, there are no new cases of AWD among the refugee population in West and South Kordofan. In Al Nimir and Kario refugee camps, treatment centres (CTCs) remain functional, and health and hygiene promotion are ongoing.
- With the support of UNHCR and the Ministry of Social Welfare (MoSW), 60 South Sudanese youth from El Leri, Abu Jubaiha, Abassiya and Sirajiya were enrolled in skills training courses. The courses aim to increase levels of self-sufficiency and improve livelihood opportunities.

UGANDA

Latest developments

- A total of 7,225 new South Sudanese refugees arrived in Uganda in the first half of August. New arrivals report that heavy rains, flooded rivers and worsening road conditions are making it difficult for South Sudanese refugees fleeing fighting in their country to reach safety in Uganda. They also report that torture, looting of property and livestock and the slaughter of civilians by gunmen have become common occurrences.

- Through border monitoring and interviews with arriving refugees, a rise in the number of single male new arrivals was noted at Busia Collection Centre. This can be partly attributed to fighters reportedly deserting armed groups.
- Additionally, the number of elderly people among the new arrivals continues to increase. Many elderly refugees report that at the beginning of the conflict they had no intention of fleeing their country, but have been forced to flee as the situation deteriorated.
- Infrastructure in Amuru has been damaged by the flooding, including Unyama Bridge, which connects Adjumani district to Palabek Settlement. The damage continues to affect movement of people, goods and services to a number of locations in and around Amuru district. Response efforts are underway.

Achievements and Impact

- Omugo Settlement, an extension of Rhino Camp in Arua district, commenced receiving refugees 1 August, and has so far received 6,130 refugees from South Sudan. Two schools and an Early Childhood Development centre are under construction and health services are being expanded.
- Biometric registration continued in Arua settlements, targeting new arrivals for family reunification and registration of new births. All refugees biometrically registered during the reporting period received attestation letters. Rigorous screening during biometric fingerprint screening identified refugees attempting to register multiple times and Ugandan nationals pretending to be refugees, all of whom were turned away.
- In Moyo, a toll-free line has been installed which refugees can call without charge to access services, make enquiries and report any form of human rights abuses or crimes committed.
- In Adjumani, foster parents for 60 children living in foster care arrangements received sim cards and mobile money registration to be able to benefit from future cash support.
- In Rhino Camp, an assessment carried out to verify reports of refugees engaging in sex work as a survival mechanism in Ofua revealed the existence of the trade in multiple locations, including major trading centres. The report also found that the trade is not restricted to refugees, but also local residents. Prevention measures being implemented include targeted material support, vocational training and income generating activities for survivors and enhanced awareness raising among both refugee and host communities.
- Across all settlements, primary and secondary school students sat for their end of term exams, and primary school candidates for secondary education sat their mock examinations. In newly opened Omugo settlement, Arua district, 400 children have so far been enrolled for school. A temporary primary school has been set up with tents for classrooms, and work has commenced on a second. Recruitment of teachers and other staff has commenced, and an Early Childhood Development centre is under construction. In Bidibidi, repair of temporary classrooms commenced across the five zones, with contractors deployed to ensure the work is completed before the third school term begins.

- The newly opened Omugo settlement provided public health services to refugees while also benefiting a considerable proportion of the host population. Health facilities conducted 1,027 outpatient consultations, of which 614 were refugees and 413 nationals. Health service outreach is being expanded, and Omugo Sub-county Health Centre is under renovation in preparation to commence receiving referrals soon.

Critical Needs and Priorities

DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC OF THE CONGO

Education: Further funding is needed to support South Sudanese refugee children to access education. In the last semester, only approximately 20 per cent of primary school-aged children were supported. UNHCR is planning to construct 12 classrooms to respond to the pressing need, up from the six classrooms originally planned.

Shelter: Over 5,000 families in Meri urgently require shelter. In Biringi, 360 refugees currently live in transit hangars due to the lack of adequate shelter, some of whom have been housed in the hangars for over six months.

ETHIOPIA

Shelter: 52 per cent of households registered in Gambella Camps are in need of transitional shelter assistance. Shortage of funding limits the provision of key services such as education, shelter, WASH facilities, as well as livelihoods activities.

SUDAN

Education: In Al Nimir camp, school feeding is recommended to encourage student retention and to further increase enrolment. A secondary school is also needed, as neither the host community nor the camp have formal learning spaces for older students.

UGANDA

Protection: Registration remains a key priority in order to identify children at risk. Additional computers are required in order to obtain information and document cases. Inadequate post-primary education opportunities for adolescents expose them to protection risks including early marriage and pregnancy, drug abuse and prostitution.

Education: Across the settlements, additional classrooms are needed and existing classrooms require repair and upgrade. In Bidibidi, poor road conditions throughout the settlement are restricting children's access to nearby primary schools, resulting in reduced daily attendance rates. In Imvepi settlement, there is no primary school in Zone 3.

Health: Inadequate medical supplies, including drugs, medical equipment and administrative materials, remains a challenge throughout the settlements. In Bidibidi, inadequate transport continued to hamper outreach services across the zones. Delivering services in temporary facilities remains a challenge, particularly during heavy rain.

WASH: Distribution of essential water, sanitation and hygiene items including buckets, soap, water purification tablets and hygiene kits for refugees affected by seasonal flooding. Current supplies are inadequate.
