

Security related developments in North Waziristan Agency (NWA) forced thousands of people to leave their homes and move to Bannu, Lakki Marwat, Karak, Dera Ismail Khan and Kohat districts in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa; Bakkar and Fatehjang in Punjab; and other parts of the country as well as to Afghanistan since 22 May 2014. So far, the authorities have enlisted over 455,597 displaced people. The FATA Disaster Management Authority (FDMA) has established a camp in Baka Khel with a capacity to house 200,000 people but almost all displaced people prefer to stay with relatives or friends or in rented houses.

149,334 individuals including 41,108 children under 5 year vaccinated against polio at check posts²

Population movement from NWA to Afghanistan³

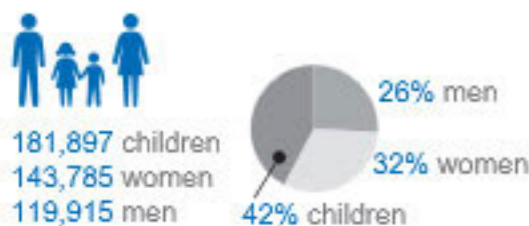

Togh Sarai displacement

In the second week of June almost all IDPs residing in Togh Sarai Camp in Hangu District left the camp after threats from some non-state armed actors and an attack resulting in injuries to four people. The camp houses some 7,000 people displaced from Kurram and Orakzai agencies. Consequently, the Government increased the security in and around the camp, resulting in some 3,077 people returning to the camp. The remaining approximately 3,923 people are still spread to surrounding areas.

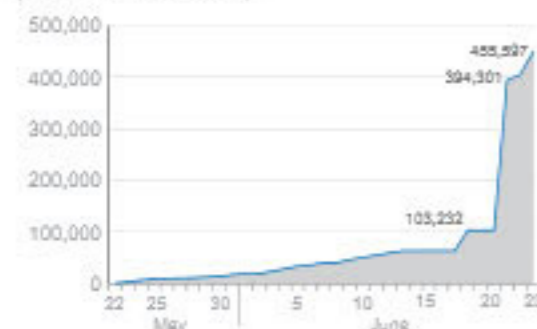

KEY STATISTICS

455,597¹ people displaced

20 Approx: IDP families staying in Baka Khel camp

IDPs shifted to Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan and Tank through check posts (cummulative total)

The boundaries and names shown and the designations used on this map do not imply official endorsement or acceptance by the United Nations. Dotted line represents approximately the Line of Control in Jammu and Kashmir agreed upon by India and Pakistan. The final status of Jammu and Kashmir has not yet been agreed upon by the parties.