- A tool for better comparability - produced by the

European Migration Network

July 2009

This is the first version of the EMN Glossary of terms relating to Asylum and Migration. The purpose of this glossary is inter alia to improve comparability between EU Member States through the use and common understanding of the terms and definitions contained herein.

The European Migration Network (EMN) serves to meet the information needs of Community institutions and of Member States' authorities and institutions by providing up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information on migration and asylum, with a view to supporting policymaking in the European Union in these areas. The EMN also serves to provide the general public with such information.

Following the introductory text, giving an overview of the EMN, how the glossary was developed and its format, the terms are presented in tabular form.

The glossary is intended to serve as a useful reference document for EMN National Contact Points (EMN NCPs) and their national network members, as well as for other practitioners in the field of asylum and migration.

Further information on the EMN, including its other outputs, as well as this glossary, may be obtained from <http://emn.sarenet.es>.

Disclaimer

This EMN Glossary has been developed by the European Migration Network (EMN). The European Commission and the National Contact Points, who collectively constitute the EMN, accept no responsibility or liability whatsoever with regard to the use made of the information contained in this glossary or of the content of the websites from which some terms are extracted.

1. Introduction

This is the first version of the EMN Glossary of terms relating to Asylum and Migration. The purpose of this glossary is inter alia to improve comparability between EU Member States through the use and common understanding of the terms and definitions contained herein. The glossary is intended to serve as a useful reference document for EMN National Contact Points (EMN NCPs) and their national network members, as well as for other practitioners in the field of asylum and migration.

The glossary has been developed by the European Migration Network (EMN) within the context of a Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group. It is the first stage of the development of this glossary, since other terms will be introduced, refinements made to definitions, and updates published accordingly. The glossary shall also be used in the development of an EMN Thesaurus, the purpose of which is to facilitate structured searching of the documents contained within the EMN's Information Exchange System.<sup>1</sup>

In the subsequent sections, an overview of the EMN is first given, followed by an outline of the methodology used to develop the glossary. The glossary terms themselves are then given, consisting of some 300 terms discussed and developed in a highly co-operative manner by the EMN NCPs constituting the Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group.

The EMN would like to acknowledge the extensive efforts of the working group and its appreciation for the permission given by other entities (ILO, IOM, OECD, UN, the EU Democracy Observatory and the THESIM project) to the use of terms and definitions which they had developed previously and which are duly referenced in the glossary.

2. The European Migration Network (EMN)

The need to exchange information on all aspects of migration, in order also to contribute to the development of policy, was identified already in the initial development of a common EU Asylum and Migration Policy.<sup>2</sup> This was further emphasised under the current Hague Programme,<sup>3</sup> which reinforced the need for common analysis of migratory phenomena (the collection, provision, exchange and efficient use of up-to-date information). The European Migration Network (EMN) is one means towards this goal. More recently, the Commission's proposal for the successor programme (the so-called Stockholm Programme),<sup>4</sup> considers the establishment of a monitoring function to analyse and understand migration issues in order to systematically disseminate and draw on available studies and sources and make available comparable data on migration.

Council Decision 2008/381/EC<sup>5</sup> of 14th May 2008 established a legal base for the European Migration Network (EMN). The purpose of the EMN is to meet the information needs of Community institutions and of Member States' authorities and institutions by providing up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information on migration and asylum, with a view to supporting policymaking in the European Union in these areas. The EMN also serves to provide the general public with such information. It is co-ordinated by the European Commission in co-operation with National Contact Points (EMN NCPs) from each EU Member State. More information on the EMN, including its structure, activities and outputs, may be obtained from <http://emn.sarenet.es>.

3. EMN Glossary and Thesaurus Development

One of the activities undertaken by the EMN, within the context of improving the comparability of information between Member States, is the development, firstly of an EMN Glossary, and then of an EMN Thesaurus. The purpose of the Glossary is to provide common definitions and understanding of terms in the field of asylum and migration which are then used, for example, in the formulation of queries and undertaking of studies according to common specifications by the EMN NCPs. The glossary shall also be used to develop further the EMN Thesaurus, the purpose of which is to permit the structured searching of documents within the EMN's Information Exchange System.

As the EMN is shaped through both a multinational environment and the multidisciplinary background of the complex field of migration and asylum, definitional and interpretative differences of certain terms are encountered, depending on various linguistic contexts and different approaches (politics, law, sociology) in which the terms are used. Because of the lack of universally accepted definitions, different groups of interest and bodies (e.g. governments, police and border authorities, governmental and non-governmental organisations) tend to use their own definitions, according to their perspective. To further complicate matters, there are not only within the same Member State different approaches followed, but also the usage of migration terms varies between Member States.

In order to ensure a unique use of terms when indexing documents and to facilitate the formulating of questions for the retrieval of documents in the EMN's Information Exchange System, a Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group was created within the EMN. As existing definitions in the field of migration and asylum are often vague, controversial or contradictory, and as there are, for many terms, no universally accepted definitions, the Working Group established a hierarchy in the source of definitions, the highest priority being for definitions given in the EU acquis on asylum and immigration.<sup>6</sup> The priority in definitions used was, therefore, according to those given (highest priority first):

1. In EU Directives/Regulations/Decisions and then any definitions given in European Commission Communications, particularly those with proposals for directives; then
2. By other EU entities, including the European Commission's Eurostat, FRONTEX, Fundamental Rights Agency, National Contact Points on Integration, plus EUROJUST, EUROPOL; then
3. In European/International Conventions, Treaties and Protocols (e.g. on smuggling, trafficking, Palermo, from the Council of Europe, International Criminal Court); then
4. By glossaries developed by the ILO, IOM, OECD, UNHCR; followed by
5. Other relevant (EU) projects/entities.

Given this hierarchy, the initial focus has been on legal definitions from the EU acquis, which in turn gives more emphasis on asylum, refugees, (il)legal migration, and return. Further development of the glossary will include other aspects of migration, particularly sociological, integration, and economic related terms.

For some terms, preference was given in relating the term to either a person or to the process, depending on which term was more commonly used. For example, Highly-Qualified Migrant is a term which is more commonly used than Highly-Qualified Migration. Whilst trying to avoid too much redundancy, in some cases, both types of terms are given in order to recognise the possible use of them and to clearly indicate which is the source definition.

Where terms were sourced from other entities and taken from existing publications, permission was sought to use their terms. In some cases, it was considered necessary to modify some definitions to reflect better EU policy on asylum and migration, and this is indicated in the relevant entries.

The EMN Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group has met many times, each time typically for one day, approximately every 6 to 8 weeks, over the course of four years, discussing in some detail and in a highly co-operative manner the various terms. Members included primarily the European Commission and EMN NCPs plus, in some cases, national experts who were part of an EMN NCPs national network. Experts from the European Commission's Eurostat and Fundamental Rights Agency also participated in some of the meetings.

Note that some of the terminology contained in the glossary may not have an exact correspondence in all Member States, and the legal concept adopted at national level may not correspond totally or partially to the concepts expressed in the glossary. However, one consideration in the discussion and development of terms was for them to be of practical use at EU level, meaning that whilst the definition of the term might not reflect exactly that at national level, nevertheless it was sufficient to give at least the same broad meaning. In a similar vein, agreement on the preferred term to use (i.e. the term which should be used instead of the synonym), was reached, even though the synonym to the preferred term was more commonly used at national level for a Member State(s). For example, Removal is the preferred term to use rather than its synonym Deportation. Where this occurred, an explanatory note has been added to clarify in more detail the definition used and/or detailing more the specificities within a particular Member State(s).

For some terms, definitions had to be derived from others, or new definitions established by the Working Group.

4. Format of the EMN Glossary

Terms are arranged in alphabetical order. For each term, the translation into other Member State languages is given, along with the agreed definition plus the source of the definition, often with a hyperlink to the original source document from which the definition was obtained.

Some terms have (brackets), in order to keep terms for the same aspect of asylum and/or migration together. In the Thesaurus, however, the correct order of words will be used. For example, Asylum (Right of) in the Glossary will be Right of Asylum in the Thesaurus. Terms are also given in the singular (not plural) and, to the extent possible, both the terms and their definitions are gender neutral, i.e. they apply equally to a man and a woman. In cases where there are different terms applying to a man or a woman, and noting also that there are technical difficulties in incorporating gender differences of terms in a thesaurus, male terms are used, also for the translation, in order to be consistent with previous approaches.

Discussion of the terms by the EMN Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group included also establishing the (hierarchical) relation to others. In order to indicate a relation to other terms the following expressions are used:

- Synonym: the meaning of the synonym can be regarded as the same as the term in a wide range of contexts, so that they are virtually interchangeable.
- BT (Broader Term): indicates the relationship between a specific term and a more generic term. For example, Economic Migrant is a BT of the term Labour Migrant, which in turn is the NT.
- NT (Narrower Term): indicates the relationship between a generic term and a more specific term. For example, Labour Migrant is a NT of the term Economic Migrant, which in turn is the BT.
- Related Term: covers the relationship between pairs of terms which are not related in a hierarchical manner, but are associated and the link between them should be made explicit in order to indicate that alternative terms might be used for indexing or retrieval of a document.

Whilst the glossary has been developed in English by the multilingual members of the Working Group, another factor taken into account was the need for translations. One feature of the EMN Glossary is to have translations of the terms into other EU Member State languages and, for some Member States, translations of the definitions too are also being done. If it was not possible to provide a direct translation, then instead a translation was provided which better reflected the definition given. Another aspect, for some Member States, was that there could be more than one translation, depending on whether reference was being made to national law or the EU acquis. In these cases, both translations have been provided, with an indication as to the context (national or EU) in which they are used.

When there were differences in the terms used for Member States having the same nominal language (e.g. Austria and Germany; France and Belgium; Netherlands and Belgium), both translations are provided with their respective Member State acronym to distinguish this difference. For example, the term Subsidiary Protection Status is translated as Status des Subsidiär Schutzberechtigten in Austria (AT), whereas in Germany (DE) it is Subsidiärer Schutzstatus. Otherwise, the acronym used is for both Member States having the same national language (e.g. AT/DE). For the reasons outlined previously, when relevant, male translations of terms were used by default.

For some terms, the definition is considered obvious or a definition in the broadest sense of the word may be used. For example, agriculture, construction, child care, city, civil war, (environmental) disaster, economic sector, education and language, elderly. A good reference for such terms is the ILO Thesaurus.<sup>7</sup> Other (legal) terms in a broader context (e.g. for Burden of Proof, Policy, Social Exclusion) may also be obtained from, for example, the Oxford English Dictionary<sup>8</sup> and the Oxford Dictionary of Law.<sup>9</sup>

Under the laws of some States, the term includes any owner of a means of conveyance, which carries a person onto its territory. Note: The definition given in Council Directive 2004/82/EC is more restrictive in that it refers explicitly to passenger transport by air and there is uncertainty as to what "any natural or legal person" actually refers to, e.g. is this to owner of company only.	IOM Glossary on Migration

Frequently the CIA discusses upcoming legislative or other proposals in order to "measure the temperature" of Member State feelings before submitting a formal Commission proposal. The CIA is also used as a forum for collecting information on the situation in Member States (via questionnaires) on selected policy relevant issues and a forum for the Commission to report to Member States on its activities. Participants from Member States are nominated on an ad-hoc basis; normally both "generalists" from the Permanent Representations and "specialists" from the capitals are present. NGOs and international organisations such as UNHCR or IOM are sometimes invited to join discussions of the CIA as active observers.	European Commission (DG JLS)

Related                      Term: Genocide  Note: The term 'ethnic cleansing' has frequently been employed to refer to the events in Bosnia and Herzegovina. General Assembly resolution 47/121 referred in its Preamble to 'the abhorrent policy of 'ethnic cleansing', which is a form of genocide', as being carried on in Bosnia and Herzegovina. ... It [i.e. ethnic cleansing] can only be a form of genocide within the meaning of the [Genocide] Convention, if it corresponds to or falls within one of the categories of acts prohibited by Article II of the Convention. Neither the intent, as a matter of policy, to render an area "ethnically homogeneous", nor the operations that may be carried out to implement such policy, can as such be designated as genocide: the intent that characterizes genocide is "to destroy, in whole or in part" a particular group, and deportation or displacement of the members of a group, even if effected by force, is not necessarily equivalent to destruction of that group, nor is such destruction an automatic consequence of the displacement. This is not to say that acts described as 'ethnic cleansing' may never constitute genocide, if they are such as to be characterized as, for example, 'deliberately inflicting on the group conditions of life calculated to bring about its physical destruction in whole or in part', contrary to Article II, paragraph (c), of the Convention, provided such action is carried out with the necessary specific intent ( dolus specialis ), that is to say with a view to the destruction of the group, as distinct from its removal from the region. 		ICTY has observed, while 'there are obvious similarities between a genocidal policy and the policy commonly known as 'ethnic cleansing' ' (Krstić, IT-98-33-T, Trial Chamber Judgment, 2 August 2001, para. 562), yet '[a] clear distinction must be drawn between physical destruction and mere dissolution of a group. The expulsion of a group or part of a group does not in itself suffice for genocide.

"Group" is interpreted broadly and can refer to persons of a particular religious belief, social (e.g. homosexuals), and/or coming from a particular region within a country. In any case, whilst a group may be persecuted, asylum applications are addressed on an individual basis in the Member States, and not all together as one group. The concept given here is taken from that developed in rulings of Germany's highest administrative court. Refugees are entitled to asylum in Germany, if they are suffering political persecution as individuals and if they are members of a section of the population (a Group) that is suffering oppression or is threatened as a whole in its home country according to one of the criteria defined in the Geneva Convention to an extent that the members of such group are not only covertly or potentially at risk, but quite tangibly and imminently; this is the concept of group persecution. If group persecution applies it is generally assumed that each member of such a group may fall victim to acts of persecution himself or herself. Thus the term helps to lend credibility to the claim of the existence of political persecution. An assumption of group persecution requires a certain intensity of persecution to warrant the general assumption of the individual persecution of each group member, irrespective of whether an individual has indeed been the victim of such persecution. This requires a threat emanating from so large a number of violations of rights protected by asylum law that it goes beyond separate individual infringements or a large number of individual	Definition according to the consistent practice of the Federal Administrative Court since its ruling of 15 May 1990 - 9 C 17.89 recently confirmed by the Court's ruling of 18 July 2006 - 1 C 15.05.

	infringements, but rather constitutes acts of persecution in the specific territory aimed at the group as a whole which increase, are repeated and spread to such an extent that there is not only a possibility, but a direct imminent danger of becoming a victim oneself for any member of such group. With consideration to the general principle of subsidiarity in refugee law, group persecution will only entitle a refugee to protection abroad, if the danger is present in the entire territory of the country of origin, i.e. if there is no internal alternative for protection. For the purposes of the danger of persecution after return such an internal alternative must be reasonable and accessible from the country of refuge. Related Term: Determination of Refugee Status, prima facie refugee

Humanitarian Protection is defined as protection given to someone under the terms of the European Convention on Human Rights. It is not the same as asylum, which may be given only to those who are fleeing persecution, under the terms of the 1951 United Nations Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees.</li> <li>2. In DE, Humanitarian Protection and Subsidiary Protection are different concepts. Humanitarian Protection is the reception and residence of refugees under international law or on humanitarian or political grounds, as laid down in Residence Act Par 22, 23. Group determination ensures that protection and assistance needs are met without prior individual status determination. Refugee status must normally be determined on an individual basis, but situations often arise in which large populations have been displaced under circumstances indicating that most members of the population could be considered individually as refugees. In such situations, the need to provide protection and assistance is often extremely urgent and it may not be possible for purely practical reasons to carry out an individual determination of refugee status for each member of that population. Recourse is therefore made to so-called group determination of refugee status, whereby each member of the population in question is regarded prima facie (in the absence of evidence to the contrary) as a refugee. In other words, the presumption is that individual members of the population concerned would be considered as refugees in need of protection Related Term: Prima facie Refugee, Group Persecution	UNHCR Master Glossary of Terms UNHCR Resettlement Handbook, paragraph 3.5
