Enclosure*Third report of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to the Counter-Terrorism Committee pursuant to paragraph 6 of Security Council resolution 1373 (2001) of 28 September 2001*Sub-paragraph 1.2

- Please provide a report on the progress made in enacting the legislation on extradition referred to in the first report in relation to sub-paragraph 3 (g).

The Extradition Bill was introduced into the Houses of Parliament on the 14th November 2002. The Extradition Bill should implement the fast track system of surrender between fellow EU Member States (the Council Framework Decision on the European arrest warrant and the surrender procedures between Member States 2002/584/JHA) and streamline the extradition procedure for all its other extradition partners. It will be considered by both Houses of Parliament in the normal way.

The Extradition Bill proposes to remove the political offence exception completely from UK extradition law, in line with our commitments under UN Security Council Resolution 1373.

Sub-paragraph 2.3

- The CTC would be grateful to be kept informed of any bilateral or multilateral (assistance) arrangements and their outcome, as well as any changes to the offer of assistance.

Over the past twelve months the UK has delivered counter-terrorism assistance to a significant number of countries around the world to improve their capabilities to deter, detain or disrupt terrorist groups in support of full implementation of United Nations Security Council Resolution 1373. This has been part of a broad programme of counter terrorism-related assistance, worth some £1.5m.

The programme has included training in operational counter-terrorism policing methods, crisis management, the drafting of counter-terrorism legislation, the countering of terrorist financing, aviation security, and bomb disposal skills in countries from South and South East Asia, the Middle East and Africa. The United Kingdom hopes to continue this programme in the coming Financial Year and to expand it to include other areas such as charity regulatory mechanisms and law enforcement on terrorist financing.

The latest version of the UK's own Assistance Matrix is attached.
